Supervisor Tells Verducci:

Roads Issue Might Become a Master Plan

County and city officials are attempting to salvage something out of the wreckage of a shattering defeat of a $35-million road bond issue by San Mateo county voters last week.

Supervisor James Fitzgerald told Daly City Mayor Joseph Verducci there is a strong possibility that the county would use the three stage road plan as a "master plan" for city and county roads.

The 28 road projects on the defeated bond issue will be given "priority status" in the master plan, he said.

Fitzgerald, chairman of the county Greater Highways committee which guided the development of the bond proposal, expressed doubt that resubmission of the measure would produce any different results.

"We came up with what I would say was a good road program for the county," Fitzgerald said, "something that was needed.

"However, the voters, in turning it down, showed that they do not want to increase their property taxes. I personally think that the vote against it was a protest of rising taxes."

Fitzgerald said the cities and the county will have to be very careful now to assure that there are adequate roads to serve any new developments that might be approved. He hinted that, without the roads, such development might be curtailed.

The bonds, together with $14 million of other funds, would have been spent on projects that would have been tied in with the state's plans for highways and freeways.

The city and county paid $179,000 for an engineering study of the county's road problems by the George Nalte consulting firm.

The bond issue, which needed a two-thirds majority to pass, failed to get even a simple majority. There were 17,588 yes votes and 20,845 no votes.

Voter apathy and ignorance of the problems were believed to be the major reasons for the defeat.

Verducci commented: "The lay public doesn't know or recognize the needs as well as the officials who have studied them and know what's going to happen."

The state has done a "tremendous job" on building highways running north and south, he said. "But the freeways are dumping the cars off into the cities along the way and there are traffic tie-ups."

"You go along on the freeways at 60 miles an hour and when you get off you have to slow down to 15 miles an hour," Verducci noted.

Alemany boulevard, for example, is a good road, he said, but it takes about 15 minutes to get past the Lake Merced intersection.

An underpass at the Lake Merced intersection was one of the 28 projects. The other projects in Daly City were extensions of Southgate avenue and Sullivan avenue.

Pacifica Mayor Harold Fegye said the defeat of the bonds was "regretable."

"The most regretable thing is the apathy of the voters at the local level," he said. "On elections at the state and federal level, the best you get is a policy making body. But on something like the road bonds where it directly affects the person and his pocketbook, the turnout is small."

Fegye said the road plan was "one of the most far-reaching programs ever presented."

"It was soundly conceived, well engineered and well presented," he said.

Pacifica voters backed the bonds by a vote 978 to 577, only 88 votes shy of a two thirds majority.

Daly City voters, on the other hand, rejected the issue, 1664 to 765. At one Daly City precinct, only 6.2 per cent of the voters went to the polling place.

Daly City engineer William Chapman said he was "disappointed" with the defeat, but that the city would do "the best it can with available money and hope for new money from an increased gas tax.

Chapman said the city "couldn't dream" of raising the necessary $1.7 million to correct Daly City's "biggest traffic headache" — the Lake Merced-Alemany boulevards intersection.

FOR WESTMOOR

Water Leak Repair Plan Is Adopted

The Jefferson Union High school district board of trustees moved closer to plugging Westmoor High school's leaky hot water lines Monday night with the adoption of a plan to rehabilitate the existing system.

The board moved to call for bids on steps one and two of the plan, which could in time, according to A. L. Buonaccorsi of Buonaccorsi and Murray, consulting engineers, cost the district as much as $130,000.

The decision was reached after a prolonged discussion of the pros and cons of the plan, the possibility of abandonment of the main hot water line and the advisability of speeding up the plan's timetable.

In a general review of the background of the water leaks, Buonaccorsi reported that at the peak of the water losses, the system was leaking 12,900 gallons per day. He added that this figure had decreased to 300 gallons per day since certain sections of the system had been by-passed.

In an effort to locate various trouble spots, Buonaccorsi's firm has undertaken considerable excavation and pipe testing.

As a result, Buonaccorsi stated that three major trouble spots have been located and service to the kitchen and dining areas of the school has been discontinued.

The preliminary step in the master plan calls for a $35,000 expenditure to run pipes across the roof and down to restore hot water to the kitchen and dining areas.

According to Buonaccorsi, this repair would be followed, in about one year's time, by completely excavating the main hot water line that runs around the buildings.

Once exposed, this pipe would have to be stripped of present insulation and a new covering put on at a cost of approximately $11 per foot of line — or a total cost of about $40,000.

Step three of the plan calls for rehabilitation of the lines in

A statuesque Westmoor High school brunette is Miss Daly City of 1963.

Claudia Smith, an 18-year-old 5-11 beauty, won the coveted title in competition with four other finalists last week at a colorful pageant in the Elks club on Hillside boulevard in South San Fancisco.

Some 125 appreciative beauty admirers sat in on the annual blue-ribbon event, sponsored by the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce.

Claudia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith of Garden Grove drive. In winning, she displayed poise developed as a part-time professional model over the past five years.

This, combined with sophisticated charm and measurements of 36½-25½-37, gave her the judges' nod over runner-up Judi Ann Homan, a 17-year-old Jefferson High school junior.

The new Miss Daly City was a finalist in the 1962 pageant. She will graduate from Westmoor tomorrow and then seek a

Delegation to Urge State To Drop Cow Palace Bill

MEASURE CRITICIZED

Assembly Unit Meets Monday

By RON BATES

A delegation of top Daly City officials will go to Sacramento Monday in an attempt to kill a bill in the State Assembly that would delete the Cow Palace and the Midway Village Housing project from the proposed annexation of Bayshore City.

Mayor Joseph Verducci, City Manager Edward Frank and City Attorney Paul Hupf will appear before the Assembly's committee on local government to present the city's arguments against the bill, which was passed by the state senate last week.

The San Mateo county Board of Supervisors voted yesterday to give "full support" to Daly City in its battle to defeat the bill.

County Manager Robert Stallings also will appear at the Assembly committee meeting on behalf of the city.

At the present time the area to be annexed is under the jurisdiction of the board of supervisors.

The city council Monday night termed the bill "ridiculous" and pinned Daly City's hopes on Assemblyman Leo Ryan, to kill the bill in committee. Ryan and south county Assemblyman Carl Britschgi are members of the committee.

Councilman Micheal DeBernardi said the bill tends to put Daly City in "a very unfavorable light."

City Manager Edward Frank reported that several interested citizens and county officials have inquired about the bill and objected to it.

Verducci said there is a possibility that the annexation may be thwarted if the bill passes the assembly.

Hupf disagreed and advised that the council proceed with the annexation. He pointed out that the annexation was started before the legislation was introduced.

Councilman Francis Pacelli termed the bill "special legislation" aimed specifically at the Daly City annexation.

"Senator (Eugene) McAteer did it deliberately at the request of the Cow Palace board of directors," he said. McAteer has said he will run for mayor of San Francisco, Pacelli pointed out later.

Some of the points Hupf said will be in his presentation in Sacramento are:

White Street Extension to Be Contested

A dispute between the Jefferson Elementary school district and the San Mateo county board of supervisors on the extension of White street in Broadmoor goes into Superior Court tomorrow.

The proposed extension would follow county-owned right-of-way between the Garden Village Elementary school and the Benjamin Franklin junior high school, swins through clubhouse property of the Broadmoor Property Owners' association, eliminates one home and intersect 87th street just opposite Nimitz drive.

The school district filed a suit of eminent domain against the county last year, arguing that school use is the higher public need.

The district seeks to acquire the right-of-way for continued use as a playfield.

The street will provide a connecting link between the Westlake Shopping center and Broadmoor via Park Plaza drive.

The route was one of four alternate plans chosen by the board of supervisors. None of the four was acceptable to the school board.

Principals Are Shifted

Five Jefferson Elementary school district principals were shifted and a new principal assigned, school superintendent Richard Foster reported Monday at the board of trustees meeting.

The moves were necessitated by one retirement, a resignation and the opening of the new Franklin Delano Roosevelt school in Westlake Terrace.

Harry Aronson will be moved from Thomas Edison to Ben

To take their place, a record number of 520 eighth grade students in Pacifica and 879 in Daly City will commence their high school careers by graduating from the elementary level to the ninth grade.

At Westmoor High School, 265 students will receive their diplomas at 8 Friday night. Senior Roye Abbott will speak in behalf of his class.

Jefferson High school will award diplomas to 230 graduating seniors at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the school gymnasium. Senior Janice Keith was named class speaker.

Terra Nova High school in Pacifica, will graduate 203 students in its second annual commencement exercises Friday at 8 p.m. Last year, the school graduated an initial class of 170 students. Robert Hernandez is the class speaker.

Oceana, the fourth school in the Jefferson district, will have its first graduating class next year.

At Ben Franklin Junior High school in Daly City, a record class of 535 students will graduate from the eighth grade at 2 p.m. Monday.

At the same time, the other junior high school in Daly City, Colma Intermediate, will award diplomas to 341 students.

Pacifica Sets Zone Review

Pacfica city councilmen and planning commissioners met in joint session Monday for the first in a series of meetings to review a new zoning ordinance which has been under preparation for approximately four years.

Sections regulating various types of districts were reviewed, but officials agreed that additional meetings will be needed to go over the remainder of the new law. Another meeting was tentatively scheduled for June 25.

National Guard Day Decreed In Daly City

Heroic Driver Stays With His Truck

Daniel Kientiz, 45-year-old Redwood City truck driver, hit the Manor drive intersection in Pacifica at an estimated 70 to 75 miles per hour and with his air horn blowing Thursday afternoon after the brakes of his 10-ton truck failed at the top of the steep Edgemar Freeway, police reported today.

Only the driving skill of Kientiz, a resident of 362 Oak Knoll drive, Redwood City, saved a major disaster at the crowded intersection, officers said.

Concrete Blocks

Kientiz was driving his heavy truck loaded with concrete blocks for the new Pacifica postoffice from the Cal Stone company in San Carlos.

Near the top of the three-mile grade, the air brakes of Kientiz' truck apparently "faded out," officers said.

As he picked up speed, Kientiz began sounding his air horn to clear traffic. He wheeled around curves faster and faster.

The veteran driver, who was pulling a fork lift in addition to carrying the heavy load, managed to miss oncoming cars as he sped down the freeway, estimated to have a grade of 25 to 30 per cent.

When he neared the Manor drive intersection, however, the traffic light changed against him. Several autos were crossing the highway and a meat company truck and two autos were waiting for the light in the north bound lane. Pedestrians, including several school children, were crossing.

Kientiz blasted his horn again. Then he swerved his heavy vehicle off the highway to the right towards a frontage road. By this time his speed was so fast the tachometer, which shows the revolutions per minutes of the truck motor, had broken.

Kientiz managed to miss the stopped vehicles and the horrified pedestrians. As he hit the frontage road, however, his speed was so great that a tire on the fork lift blew out and the oil lines between the truck and the lift burst.

Kientiz guided his still speeding vehicle down the frontage road past the intersection. By this time he was rapidly approaching a line of parked cars on the frontage road. As he swerved back towards the highway his speed broke loose a pile of concrete blocks, which scatannexation proceedings and the subsequent hearings.

The basic reason for the inclusion of the Cow Palace was to prevent "pockets of unincorporated areas" within the city boundaries.

The bill was "ill-conceived and hastily drafted." There was no opportunity to present arguments.

At a hearing, a spokesman for the Cow Palace board of directors was asked if there was any difference in jurisdictional powers of the city and the board of supervisors in the operation of the agricultural district. The spokesman said no.

No evidence was given to the legislators of added Cow Palace expenses claimed in the bill. The burden would be more on the city, Hupf pointed, out, and the spokesman for the Cow Palace said this himself at the public hearing.

Hupf pointed out that only the Cow Palace had objected and not the housing project commissioners, as stated in the bill.

Hupf said that exclusion of the Cow Palace and the housing project would leave them without fire or police protection.

Verducci said every attempt was made to assure the Cow Palace directors that the city had good intentions and was willing to meet with them to work out any problems.

The council planned to ask the San Mateo county board of supervisors for its support against the bill.

In other action, the council:

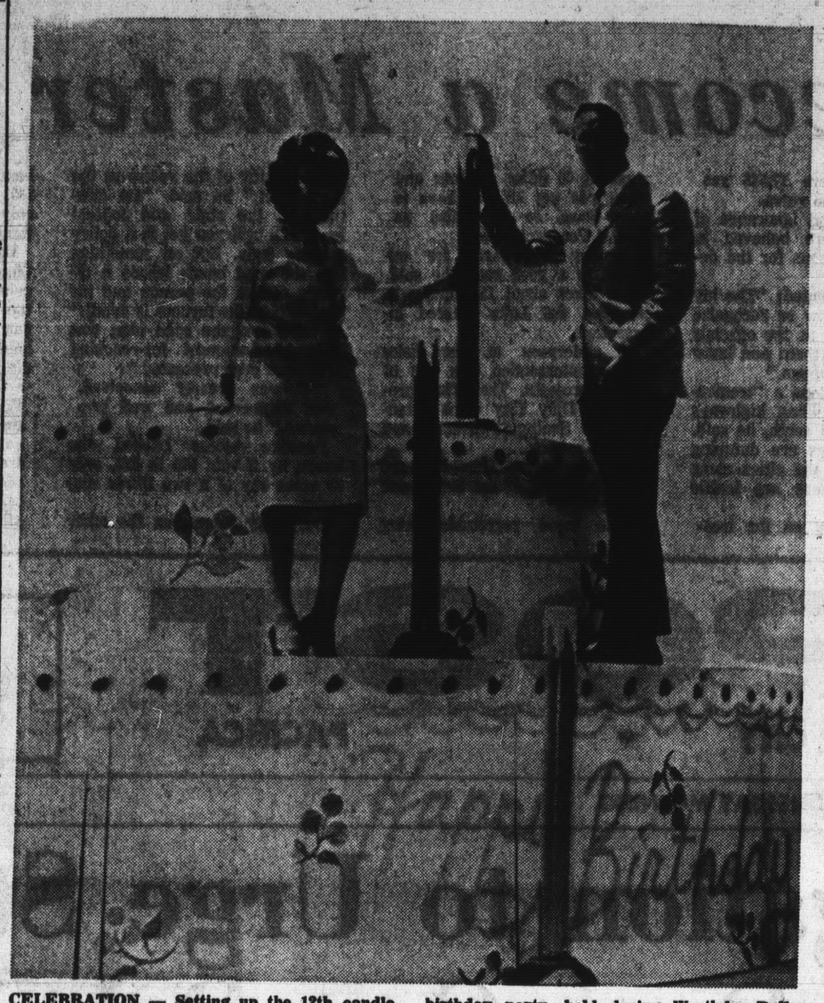
Appointed Mrs. Betty Buckley deputy city clerk.

Requested study by the staff on a proposed raise in bus fares by the Northgate Transit company. Action by the council, Humpf explained, would influence the Public Utilities commission decision whether or not to have a hearing.

Referred back to the planning commission a request for a revolving sign at 7 St. Francis Square Shopping center. Thirty-three people signed a petition requesting denial of a sign permit.

Set June 24 as the hearing date on the revocation of a dancing permit to Ye Olde Firehouse. The police department requested the revocation because of "repeated sales of alcohol to minors" and a complaint pending on "after hour sales."

Let's Celebrate!



CELEBRATION — Setting up the 12th candle on the Westlake Shopping Center's giant birthday cake are Lois Nacca of The Fashion and Dick Owens of the New England Shop. The cake will be a highlight of the center's 12th birthday party, held during Westlake Dollar Days today through Saturday. Some 6000 servings of birthday cake and coffee will be available for shoppers at an all-day party in the center Saturday.

Westlake Center Has a Birthday

Westlake Shopping center will observe its twelfth year in business Saturday.

Highlight of the celebration will be a concert Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m., by nationally-known organist Dick Dissell.

Also on the concert program will be the Hootenanny Folk Singers, with Vic Dobyn II, and the Westlake Accordion club players.

Stores in the shopping center will conduct their annual Westlake Dollar Days, with special sales today through Saturday.

Six thousand pieces of birthday cake with coffee will be given away on the mall all day Saturday, shopping center officials announced.

Dissell's concert will be given on a special stage in front of the Westlake Music Center. Dissell will play light classical, stage and screen music.

Dissell began a recording and television career five years ago when he restored a theater organ similar to the one in the now-defunct Fox theater in San Francisco.

His first concert on the restored organ was reported as immensely popular. He has been performing for RCA Victor and on television in Southern California.

Scout Show Is Planned

"A Salute to Dad . . . A Good Scout" will be theme of the school year's last formal gathering of Daly City area Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

Five scouting groups will gather at St. Francis Square shopping center, Southgate avenue and St. Francis boulevard, Saturday to display year-long projects in scouting skills, including several in outdoor camping techniques, according to Ernie Casadas, San Mateo county scouting executive in charge of the Daly City scouting program.

"We feel this display by the scouts will be a fitting tribut eto all the fathers who have worked and helped with scouting this past year," Casadas stated.

"We also hope that it will stimulate an interest in scouting for the boy who has ever been exposed to scouting activities." Casadas added.

Scout Troop 259, scoutmaster, Frank Swanson, 1839 Lauvaine drive, Colma; Scout Troop 84, Frank J. Garritson, 210 Bell Haven; Cub Pack 259, cubmaste Salvatore J. Scaduto, 975 Foothill, Colma; Cub Pack 84, cubmaster, Joseph Monks, 65 Perita, Daly City, and Cub Pack 182, cubmaster Arthur J. Bieghley, 47 Longview drive, Daly City.

The display is scheduled for 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

Daly City Feels Earthquake

Daly City was jarred by a sharp shock at 5:05 a.m. Friday as a slight earthquake rocked the bay region.

There were scattered reports of the quake being felt as far south as San Mateo but no damage was recorded.

Several residents were awakened by the tremor but none felt the need to call the police department.

Dr. Dan Tocher of the University of California seismographic station said that the temblor registered 3 on the Richter scale and was centered over Martinez.

It was also felt in parts of Alameda and San Francisco counties.

the little theater area, the lockers, the arts and crafts building and a section of the academic area.

This project would cost the district about $55,000 but there is a possibility that it will not have to be put in operation. To date, the lines in that area have developed no weaknesses.

Though Buonaccorsi emphasized that, in his judgment, step two could easily be postponed for one year without running too great a risk of permanent damage to the line, the board moved to call for bids on both steps in an effort to reduce the risk of additional difficulties and to cut costs as much as possible.

In the face of a comment by Fred Goodell that the cost of the work would completely wipe out reserve funds, District Superintendent Edward Morgan emphasized that the trustees actually have no choice in the matter if the school is to fully operate next fall.

Fred Schweickhardt will leave George Washington-General Pershing schools to accept another double assignment as principal of Jefferson Elementary and the new Franklin Delano Roosevelt school.

Peter Hansen, the new principal, will take the place of retiring principal Ethel Hahn.

Dr. Bernard Gerdes will move from Westlake school to George Washington-General Pershing to replace Schweickhardt.

Jess Parks will move from Crocker-Vista Grande to Westlake to replace Gerdes.

The board of trustees took a requested three per cent pay increase by the California state school employes into study. The raise would affect classified personnel such as janitors, maintenance men, and secretaries.

The budget was discussed but no action was taken.

Roads Issue May Become Master Plan

He called the intersection "a no-man's land for traffic." The vote also will leave Pacifica "a one-road city," he added.

County Engineer Don S. Wilson, a long-time advocate of a countywide bond issue to eliminate the county's road deficits and the prime moving force behind the defeated program, expressed his disappointment. He was asked what went wrong.

"I don't suppose anything went wrong," he replied. "Either the thing wasn't understood sufficiently by enough people to get out the vote, or else it wasn't presented to them in such a way that they thought it was a good program."

Wilson also spoke against resubmission of the measure.

"It was beaten so badly," he said, "that I think any possibility of financing this kind of a program by a bond issue is pretty remote at this time.

"We will continue to do the best we can, as we always have. Either the congestion will worsen to the point where people will become more interested in it, or something else will be found to solve the problem."

Wilson noted that the 1-cent gas tax boost that has won the approval of the state legislature will add only about 10 per cent, or some $300,000 to the county's road funds.

Although it will approximately double the street funds of the cities, most of that will be used to replace general fund money that is now being spent on streets, he predicted.

Verducci urged citizens to attend Army National Guard departure ceremonies that will be held at the guard's armory at 455 Third avenue, San Bruno, at 8 p.m. Friday night.

What was her reaction to winning after a second try at the crown? "I wasn't sure if it was true," she exclaimed.

Claudia has been a Daly City resident for 11 years. She now will represent the city in the 1963 San Mateo county Fiesta Dream Girl contest. By winning the crown, she also won some $1000 in prizes donated by Daly City merchants.

The new Miss Daly City received her crown from last year's winner, Susan Thorne.

Other finalists included Sharon Schroder, 17, of 368 Bellevue avenue; Gloria Morrissey, 18, of 48 Crestline avenue and Karen Schroeter, 20, of 40 Crestview drive.

Master of ceremonies was Fred Martin of the chamber, who also had served as chairman of the beauty contest.

Judges included Lee Chamberlain, George Cordellos, Gale Hiett, Joseph Mottola and Jeannette Parkinson.

Prior to the final judging, a style show was presented by The Fashion and H. Liebes. Sarann Daly narrated the show. Models included Rosalind Tognoli, Lynette Fischel, Patricia Monahan and Susan Schwoerer.

Dead Trout Found In Pedro Creek

Pacifica city officials, state fish and game investigators and Coastside sportsmen are attempting to determine the cause of death of hundreds of trout found floating in Pedro Creek over the weekend.

Officer Donald Joice said the investigation was begun after dozens of calls were received from residents in the eastern end of the Linda Mar area. He said the fish had apparently come from a trout farm which used to be in the area, and most were between 2 and 5-inches long.

Two dead fish, 7-inches long, were taken by a representative of the state department of fish and game for a chemical analysis to determine the cause of death.

Joice, a representative of the state department, and James Fox, local sportsman leader and planning commission chairman, searched the creek Saturday.

Joice said first indications were that the insecticides used to spray nearby truck farms may have run into the creek.

An empty fertilizer sack found in the creek may have also caused the fish to die, he said.

All of the dead fish were downstream from where the former trout farm was located. Officers said residents in the area may have been alarmed because of the publicity given to Rachael Carson's recent book, "The Silent Spring," which deals with the death of birds and fish because of uncontrolled spraying of insecticides.

Discipline Unit Holds 1st Session

A committee of parents, teachers, administrators and school board trustees met for the first time last week to begin formulation of a discipline policy for the Jefferson Elementary school district.

The committee will be broken down into three separate committees to formulate separate policies for students, teachers and parents.

The policies would serve as guidelines in enforcing discipline, board of trustee chairman Thomas Noonan said. "It would lay down what is expected of the student, teacher and parent."

The only discipline policy in effect in the district now deals with the teacher.

Mrs. Eunice Altman, Mrs. Donald Aron, Mrs. Jean Bertken, Ernest Boom, Mrs. Harvey Cross, Joseph Dickerson, Mrs. Marian Donovan, Mrs. Peg Ednoff, Mrs. Peter Markovich, Richard Newton, Mrs. June Neuhause, Al Parodi and Mrs. Jessie West.

The three administrative members are principals Harry Aronson, James Thompson and Margery Tobias. The teachers are Georgina Nyhan, Myrtle Culley and Larry Anderson.

Terra Nova Bids Slated

Bids will be opened June 24 for the construction of a third floor, locker rooms, gym and cafeteria, at Terra Nova High school.

The Jefferson Hgh school board authorized a $5000 soils report to be made of the proposed Crocker High school site to determine the feasibility of developing the site and to determine the approximate cost of development.

A bid for the construction of bleachers at Terra Nova was awarded to Trask and Squier for $7,823.27, and for telescopic gymnasium seats to Brookman company for $12,160.

Kientiz guided his disabled truck down a dirt strip between the freeway and the frontage road. The vehicle finally slowed to a halt south of Avalon drive —two blocks south of the crowded intersection.

The heroic driver was so shaken up by his experience, officers took him to the nearby fire department headquarters, where a physician adminstered a sedative. Firemen reported he slept almost three hours.

According to firemen, one mother telephoned to praise Kientiz' driving skill, for saving her little girl standing at the intersection. And, police reported, they had at least a dozen calls from witnesses praising the truck driver.

Kientiz told officers his truck was in gear all the time and that the air pressure apparently had not failed as he was able to blow his air horn. But, somehow, he said, the brakes "faded out" completely near the top of the grade.

Miss Daly City Hopes to Become Top Model

GOAL SET

She Bawls In School After Win

By LOUANNE HEATH

WHAT DOES a beauty queen do on the very first day of her reign?

She cries and cries and then cries some more if Claudia Smith, Miss Daly City of 1963 is typical.

Though crying may be a typical reaction for many girls; it is not in keeping with the practical nature of Claudia, a dark haired 18-year-old beauty of five feet eleven inches who fairly exudes self - confidence and a single - minded determination to become one of the nation's top high fashion models.

"I don't know what was the matter with me, people were being so nice! Former teachers and kids I don't know were stopping me in the halls at school to congratulate me and I couldn't even talk.

"All I could do was cry some more. I cried my way through four classes and I just couldn't seem to stop," Claudia reported with an embarrassed laugh. (Claudia is a graduating senior at Westmoor High school.)

Miss Daly City talks with a great deal of ease about herself, her immediate plans and her goals and as she talks, her listeners know these are subjects she has spent hours considering. Her blueprint for life has been drawn and now she is working as hard as humanly possible to follow it.

"I can't remember when I didn't want to be a model," said Claudia, who is looking forward to graduation with impatience.

"As soon as graduation is over, I'm going to have new composites (pictures) made and then I'm going to start calling on every store within commuting distance. I may not get many jobs at first but at least the stores will have my pictures and I will have had a brief interview.

"That is enough to let them know me and know that I'm eager to get back to work. In school we call this pounding the sidewalk and I'll be at it right away because this is my life for now and forever."

REGAL PAIR — Miss Daly City of 1962, Susan Thorne, left, offers a bouquet of flowers to the young lady who succeeded her this year, Claudia Smith, Miss Daly City of 1963. Susan presented her crown to Claudia at a pageant last week at the Elks club in South San Francisco.

THOUGH she has modeled since she was 12 years old and has in the past been employed to train children and male models and was even head instructor for one of the modeling schools in San Francisco, during the past six months she has not done any commercial work.

"I've just had the most wonderful opportunity to study with a simply remarkable man, Alberto Maracchii, who is connected with Desilu Studios in Hollywood. The studying I did with him kept me from doing any commercial modeling for a while," Claudia explained with enthusiasm.

"I met Mr. Maracchii some time ago, when I was applying for a job. Unfortunately, I wasn't right for the layout he was doing so I forgot all about him. Then he saw me modeling in a show at the Jack Tar hotel and approached me about taking part in a study of portraits in mood phases.

"This is experimental photography where the model must convey emotion through pose, he eyes or an artistic line. Action is totally, or almost totally eliminated," Claudia continued.

"To do this sort of thing you have to have insight into people, situations and emotions. Mr. Maracchii had me do a reading for him from Bertrand Russell's "Wisdom of the West."

"Then I let him judge my insight by attempting to convey to him the philosophical tenets behind the words. It was difficult, but I've always thought that I have a mind and having a mind of my own I ought to be able to do anything, anything at all, if I apply my intellect.

"Well, I did my best and as it turned out my best was a good deal better than he expected, so for the past months I have been working with him, modeling and learning to express myself dramatically.

"It has been the most wonderful thing that could happen to me and I feel I have really grown, as a model and an actress, during this period," Claudia stated.

TRAINING is something that Claudia talks about with eagerness. Training and hard work are the tools with which she plans to build her career and she wants that career desperately. Modeling, she feels, has become essential to her well-being.

Talking about the reasons she enjoys her work so much, she commented, "I am not really alive unless I am out on the fashion runway. I don't feel I am really me until I'm out there."

"It is work, but is really living, too, even if some aspects are difficult. Tension, for example, is very hard on models. You are constantly fighting it. Sometimes you stand for hours waiting for your turn on stage and your nerves tie themselves in knots.

"I'm tense until I judge the performance I'm giving. I step out of the wings and I ask myself, am I performing properly, am I pleasing the people who employ me and, most important, am I pleasing the audience.

"You can tell right away if you are popular with the audience or not. If I sense they aren't with me, I immediately establish personal contact with individuals in the gathering. I look people right in the face and smile and they just beam back at me.

"When they respond to me like that, I know that I'm giving of myself and that they like what I am doing. You have no idea what a wonderful feeling it is to know you are giving something of yourself to all those people and that they appreciate what you are giving," Claudia continued.

EVENTUALLY she wants to establish her own modeling school in New York City. She wants to collect a group of at least 10 dedicated young women, trained to her own specifications.

With such a group, Claudia feels, she could have the finest agency in the country. But this, she admits, is a long range dream. Right now she plans to model just as long as she is able.

The demands on an aspiring young model's time are heavy and Claudia admits that she has little time for outside activities. She has boy friends but no one special. She has belonged to social groups but they took too much time and were dropped.

This summer she plans to maybe dash off to Yosemite for a brief vacation before she represents Daly City in the Miss Fiesta Queen contest.

Teachers Organize AFT Local

Officers for a newly organized local of the American Federation of Teachers were elected Wednesday in a meeting at Jefferson High school.

The local will represent teachers of the Jefferson Union High school district.

The election followed an initial meeting last month at Westmoor High school where the teachers heard talks by Suzanne Greenfield, president of the South San Francisco local of AFT; Maurice Englander, president of California Federation of Teachers; Bob Hall, editor of "The California Teacher," official publication of AFT, and Dan Jackson, past national AFT vice president.

The new officers are Jim Ballard, president; Frank Pustay, vice president; Selwyn Jones, secretary; Bob Delzell, treasurer, Mike Tugendreich and Jim Force, directors of publicity, and Carol Nelson, parliamentarian.

Ballard said the primary purpose of the new AFT local is to put more emphasis on the role of the classroom teacher in educational affairs as they affect the classroom.

"We believe that, if the necessary changes in education are to come about, the teacher must accept his share of the responsibility for making these changes," he said.

More room.

Our '63 VW is the most.

It has more room in the cab and more power in the engine than any Volkswagen Truck in 13 years.

There's more room to stretch your legs because the interior headlight mouldings have been flattened out. And a new adjustable driver's seat has been added. Just put the seat in reverse and slide it back until your legs feel comfortable. Then lock it in place.

Alongside is a new oversize passenger seat, big enough for one well-upholstered rider. It's standard equipment.

Back in the engine room is our big, new, air-cooled "1500" power plant. (Displacement is 1,493 cc. or 91.10 cu. in.) It turns out 25% more horsepower than any other VW Truck going.

More brrmmmmmm!

That's why our '63 model can outspeed, outclimb, outdo any other VW Truck on the road today.

What else do you get?

Legendary VW gas mileage. (24 mpg is still our average. On regular gas.)

An air-cooled engine that can't ever freeze up or boil over.

And VW's rear-engine traction in mud, snow and sand.

What more could you want?

Hmmmmmm?

James Ross Named New PR Director

James A. Ross, 46, a business education major at San Francisco State, has been named the college's athletic news director, Joseph J. Verducci, director of athletics, announced last week.

Ross, former assistant public relations and advertising director for the Central National bank, Cleveland, Ohio, will take over the post vacated by Sam Goldman, who resigned.

Other publications and positions held by Ross include five years with the Erie Railroad, four one-half years in public relations for the U. S. Army, and extensive newspaper reporting and public relations work.

In submitting his resignation Goldman expressed his deep appreciation to the vast number of persons and organizations who helped place SF State high on the national sports scene during his six years as the college's athletic news director.

"The newspapers, radio and TV stations, other colleges and universities, and most of all the coaches have made my six years at State happy and rewarding. I am sorry that I have to leave this post just when SF State's sports star is beginning to shine so birght both locally and nationally."

Among the numerous programs which were instituted by Goldman there was included — the broadcasting of SF State football games; a complete year-round public relations program for the college's athletic scene; publication of football, basketball, and spring sports brochures; complete statistics and reporting service of SF State sports to communication media and other sources; working to strengthen the stature of the Far Western conference in the area of public relations: publication of profit making football-basketball programs and booklets; inaugurating annual Youth Groups Days and Faculty Days for SFSC athletic events; bringing business and commercial areas on the SFSC campus for better college-community relations; and a host of other activities.

S.F.S. Sports Reviewed

San Francisco State college's spring sports scene was highlighted by numerous individual honors and team championships.

For the third successive year the baseball team, under head coach Tom Morgan, took the Far Western conference diamond title.

The golf team took the team championship and the swimming team grabbed off another crown.

Despite numerous injuries the track and field squad took a surprising third place spot and the varsity tennis squad after a slow start came in with an impressive second place in FWC contention.

Coach Fessenden's tracksters were led by such standouts as distance miler Craig Spilman and broad jumper John McGregor; Ghetaldi had Mike Miority to lead the six man team; Bill Vaughn sparked Coach Dan Farmer's tennis players; while a host of swimmers smashed numerous FWC and SF state marks for head coach Walt Hanson.

In baseball it was the pitching of Terry Christman, Dave Gehre, Art Groza; the infield work and hitting of Gary Atell, Bud Harrellson, Bob Baird, Wayne Service and the outfield performances of Ken Barbieri, Rich Jefferies, and Jerry Gosland that took the title.

CSM Named Fourth Best In Track

The College of San Mateo track team received some good news today in the form of a promotion.

The Bulldog spikes learned that they are the fourth best track team in California, not the fifth.

At the California state junior college track meet at Modesto on May 25, the CSMers were allotted fifth place. They finished one point behind San Bernardino with 29 points.

However, coach Berny Wagner, and many of those present at the meet, felt that CSM's high hurdler, Al Rockwell, finished fourth instead of fifth.

After a thorough review of the movies taken of the 120 high hurdle race, the judges ruled that Rockwell did indeed beat Oakland's Abe Johnson for fourth place.

Giants Sign Roy Reitz

Roy Reitz, former College of San Mateo and Jefferson High school baseball star, signed a contract with the San Francisco Giants last week.

The Bayshore City youth, who played this year for the University of San Francisco, will report immediately to the Giants' Decatur, Ill., farm club in the Midwest league.

Reitz, a performer for the Giants rookie team in the Peninsula Winter league for the past two seasons, throws and bats left-handed.

at the POST

WILLIE MAYS, as I write this, is in a slump—a slump which is at times going beyond merely batting, but seeping almost unnoticably into fielding, throwing and baserunning.

He'll come out of it, say the experts. He'll catch up with the law of averages.

By the time this column is printed, he may, I hope, be out of his slump. But I think that all Mays fans should resign themselves to the fact that Willie may not get out of his slump this year.

This is not to say that Willie's washed up. It's merely a reminder that Mays is no longer an after-hours stick-ball player. He's 32, and any athlete performing past the age of 30 is playing on borrowed time. If Willie is to retain even a good part of his greatness, he must eventually make the necessary adjustments for his advancing athletic years.

THIS IS NO TRAGEDY. It's something that all athletes must face, or perish. Stan Musial and Warren Spahn are notable examples of the adjustments which can always be made for age.

But there is a marked difference in the types as represented by Musial and Spahn, and by Mays. Stan and Warren, men not possessed of the outstanding physical attributes of a Mays, have always been "thinking" ballplayers.

Musial made himself into a hitter when his pitching arm failed him. When the skinny Spahn lost the steam on his fast ball, he developed other pitches, kept a more complete "book" on rival hitters, and developed even better control.

WILLIE, on the other hand, has always been an instinctive ballplayer. He's never had to think much about what he was doing on the ball field. He just depended on his natural instincts and did it.

But it could be that a tiny fraction of his natural instincts is now failing him. He's striking out with the bat on his shoulder more than he ever did. He is not always getting that extra base, sometimes for the want of only a half step. A couple of times this year he has allowed hitters extra bases by charging and throwing the ball a split second later than he apparently has in the past. He has even misjudged a couple of fly balls.

In short, it appears from here that things are happenng just a little faster for Willie, than they used to.

My only hope is that Willie — if making an adjustment to being 32 years of age is, indeed, his problem—doesn't take as long in making the adjustment as did Robin Roberts.

ROBERTS, you may remember, won 138 games in just half a dozen years with the Phillies in the '50s, but became a loser for several seasons when his fast ball left him and he stubbornly refused to learn other pitches. He finally got wise last season when, after being released by the Yankees, he discovered that he was no longer wanted. He virtually begged for a tryout with Baltimore, got it, started throwing off-speed stuff rather than trying to overpower hitters with a non-existent overpowering fastball, and made the American league comeback of the year.

Roberts learned in time to salvage perhaps a few more good years. I hope that Mays' slump isn't that last big one which some aging athletes never do shake. I hope that it is, after all, only a natural slump which the law of averages will eventually overtake.

I RAN into Frank "Bowtie" Walsh the other day, and, not the least to my surprise, found the polly promoter to be in a new venture.

He now produces the Abe Woodson, Larry Dickson nightly (Monday through Friday) sports broadcast over KDIA in Oakland, from 7-7:15 p.m.

Woodson, of course, is the great 49er defensive back, while Dickson was an All Coast basketball star for St. Mary's in 1951.

Walsh, who comes by his nickname quite naturally, in that he owns or rents over 1000 bow ties, is the genius, you may remember, who brought big league collegiate basketball to the Cow Palace right after World War II.

This was amazing for two reasons. One, no one had ever seriously thought of the Cow Palace as a major sports arena until Walsh paved the way. Two, there was no heating system in the Palace at the time, which Walsh tried to make the crowds forget by parading his chubby legs in Bermuda shorts prior to each game in full view of the freezing spectators. It worked for a while, but eventually the cold helped, in large part, to drive the crowds away.

BY THE TIME the Cow Palace got a heating system, the blue-legged Walsh wasn't around to enjoy it.

He was off doing other things — which is his main occupation — such as producing TV programs, promoting movie premiers, inventing children's sports and other parlor games, and taking American amateur basketball teams on hugely successful BC (before Castro) good will tours of South America.

Several years ago he even charmed no less than the Soviet Union, with consent of the state department, into giving him an all expenses paid tour of the joint while he advised Soviet basketball officials on how to improve their game.

The likeable, fun-loving Walsh shook hands, kissed babies, and came out of the adventure with armfuls of roses, another tremendous job of good will well done, and an exclusive story for Sports Illustrated.

Come to think of it, Walsh might be a pretty good guy to keep in mind for our next South American crisis. We could send him on a tour down there. A few of his promotions would turn even Castro into a capitalist.

I WONDER if those dirty old Dodgers are proud of themselves for having succeeded in breaking down the legs of Maury Wills with that concrete infield.

As Aunt Polly would say, it looks like they've finally gotten their comeupance.

CHECK the statistics of Giant catchers Ed Bailey and Tom Haller. You'll probably find that, combined, this duo is leading the majors in homeruns and runs-batted-in—or darned close to it.

How's that production for a position that would satisfy most managers only if it was sturdy on defense—which the Giant duo also is.

RECREATION LEAGUES

Dons Upset Lions; Cards Dodgers, Tigers Still Lead

Three leaders continued to hold sole possession of first place in their leagues while a fourth was tied for the top spot in action lat week in baseball sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department.

Here is a rundown of the action:

MIDGET-NATIONAL

The PAL Braves and the Bender Roofing Cats opened the week's play with a banged up ball game. See-sawing back and forth as pitchers Nick Gentile of the Braves and Joel Carrara of the Cats cut off opposition rally, the game took an extra inning to be resolved.

The big break came in the seventh when Paul Romer blasted a ahrd hit through the first baseman for a 2-1 win.

The Holy Angels Colts locked horns with PAL Yankees in their second meeting and this time the Colts came away winners, 8-7. After three innings, the Colts held an 8-1 lead but the stubborn Yanks kept pecking away until the last inning.

With the tieing run on third and two outs, the Colt shortstop made an easy handle and tossed out Gerry Garibaldi at first to win the tight ballgame.

The Yankees dropped another close one to the Bender Roofing Cats. Joel Carrara shut them out in a 2-0 ballgame. Carrara fanned 12 Yankee batters. Dave Belli was the big man with the bat for the Cats with two for three and scoring both runs.

Nick Gentile and the PAL Braves almost turned the trick this week but the league leading PAL Cardinals took their best, then turned them back. The game went nine innings with Steve Kirby striking out 12 Braves and giving up two hits.

Nick Gentile struck out nine Bird batters and gave up six hits. Gordy Contreras ended the ball game when he scored from first on an infield roller by Garry Gervertz in the last of the ninth. Final score: Cardinals 1, Braves 0.

OLM Leopards took a pair this week, winning over the PAL Indians first by a score of 4-1. Steve Gilmore gave up five hits to the Indians.

MIDGET-AMERICAN

Thanks to the OLM Dons, the PAL Giants moved into a tie for first place this week with the Holy Angels Lions. Paul Gleschinski played the hero for the Dons in their 5-1 upset of the league-leading Holy Angels Lions.

Gleschinski whiffed 12 of the Lion batters and hit two homeruns to help win his own ball game in two times at the plate. The Lions took five hits off Glischinski but the Dons held them to one run.

In other action, the Giants beat the OLPH Golds, 7-3.

George Harrison Realty surprised Misracks with a 4-2 in. Gar Tompkins allowed only two Misracks hits and walked five. Bobby Kinderman went three for three — two singles and a homerun. Jim Schiffman and Bobby Locke hit safeties for RBIs. Coach Randy Hix raved about the fine defensive play of Dave Segal.

JUNIOR BASEBALL

Joe Weinberg came up with an unusual performance for the OLM Saints in their game against the OLPH Falcons. Weinberg, a second baseman, was called upon in the role of relief pitcher and gave up a single over 4 2-3 innings.

OLM was tied with OLPH at the time Weinberg went in. Jim Davis hit a sngle and stole two bases. Catcher Joe Formosa tagged a ground ball that scored Davs, giving OLM Saints a 6-5 win.

OLPH pitcher. Mike Chelone, deserved a better fate. OLM scored four unearned runs in the first inning on just two hits.

The PAL Cubs banged out 11 hits to down Skyline Plaza in a 5-1 ball game. Two long doubles by Greg Carter and Ted Shaddox helped the cause. Keith Stoller hit three for four and played well defensively.

The Cubs pclled off their sixteenth and seventeenth double plays and Mini struck out eight batters to bring his total to 143 strikeouts in 93 innings.

Irv Jones gave the OLPH moundmen fits in their meeting with PAL Cubs. Jones hit three for three, two long doubles. Craig Carter hit one too. The Cubs made their eighteenth double play as the Cubs won 7-4.

BYA Skyline Plaza picked up a win over the OLM Gunners, 8-2. Ron Smith and Marv Smith combined to strike out 10 for the gunners. Ron Smith slammed a long triple. Mike Corso rollehted three hits for the Gunners.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE

Riding in the top spot again this week are the PAL Dodgers after suffering their first defeat. In second place, a three-way tie promises to give the Dodgers several bumps before the league lays down and dies. Ben Franklin Press, Holy Angels Shamrocks and the rejuvinated Bender Roofers are making their moves.

This week Ben Franklin Press took a close one from BYA Relish Bakery, 8-7. Both teams collected nine hits each but three Bakery errors made the difference—that, plus Dennis Dolan's relief job on the mound. He faced 17 men in the last fivt innings, fanning seven.

BYA Bender Roofers met the PAL Dodgers with a big ban as usual. Whenever Sam Mannina of BYA and Rock Kubowitz of PAL have met over the past three years, a great game has resulted.

In the last three years, seven out of eight games have been won by one run, Rock winning four and Sam four. This year it was San Mannina's turn with a 7-6 win to give the Dodgers their first loss of the season.

In this game, Russ Runge, PAL pitcher, hit three for three (two singles and one homerun and 1 BB and scored twice). For Bender, Wayne Steinert hit three for four (two doubles and a single, two RBIs and scored twice).

Benson Upsets Top Half-Milers

Modest Ron Benson, College of San Mateo's heralded runner, jarred the hopes of the big boys Saturday as he ran the fastest 880 of his life in posting an upset win over Northern California's top major college half-milers at the annual Pacific association meet held at Stanford.

Benson, who set a new College of San Mateo record, toured the half-mile run in 1:50.4. Benson erased the old CSM mark of 1:51.3 set by Ralph Lee last year.

Ironically, at the same time, many miles away in Chicago, Lee, former San Mateo High school and CSM great who is now running for Long Beach State, won the NCAA Small College 880 run. Lee also ran a lifetime best of 1:50.8 to top the nation's best small college runners.

Benson's sparkling performance plus a four mile JC relay victory, and the placing of hurdler Al Rockwell and steeplechaser Dave Kamrar gave Coach Berny Wagner's CSM crew a fifth place finish in the meet.

Santa Clara Youth Village won the meet, with Stanford, San Jose State and California finishing ahead of the Bulldogs in that order.

The four-mile relay team of Kamrar, Frank Procella, Steve Fanucchi and Jim Huff established another new CSM record when they blazed through the relay in 17:57.1. Kamrar had the best time with a 4:22.7, followed by Huff (4:25.6), Fanucchi (4:29.5) and Procella (4:39.3).

The durable Kamrar then came back to finish third in the 3000 meter steeplechase event with a 9:36.3 timing. It was the first time that the slender youth had ever run the event.

Rockwell finished a fast third in the high hurdles, turning in a 14.9 time. He also grabbed a fourth place in the 440 hurdles with a 1:00.4 timing.

Both Hillsdale and Aragon High schools finished in the scoring coleumn, each recording one point.

Hillsdale's Marcel Hetu, running against college and athletic club competition, finished fourth in the two-mile run with a 9:53.8 timing.

Aragon's Jack McLeskey pole vaulted 13-0 to place fourth in that event. The pole vault was won by former Jefferson High school star Jeff Chase, now performing for the Santa Clara Youth Village, with a vault of 15-0.

A Degree for Mom

'Retired' Housewife Begins New Career

By LOIS McNALLY

A PACIFICA housewife who has been "retired" for the past decade raising her children is going back to work this fall in a new career—helping the disabled get back to work.

Mrs. Shirley Majchrzak of 451 Manor drive will be one of 13 students graduating this month with a master's degree in a pioneer program at San Francisco State college in rehabilitation counseling.

Shirley went back to school three years ago on a grant from the federal office of vocational rehabilitation, a division of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Under the grant, Shirley was given $1800 for her studies the first year and $2000 the second year. "This was a very intensive program," she says. "Five full days a week."

In addition to taking 54 units of class work, she wrote a thesis on group psychotherapy and did field work in the state college counseling center, helping students with personal problems.

She is particularly interested in group therapy and hopes to work in the north county area with mentally or physically disabled persons.

"Our objective is to help people with problems so they can get into jobs," she explains.

Only 13 centers in the United States train people for this kind of work. Two are on the west coast in Los Angeles and Washington state.

In Pacifica, Shirley, who is the mother of Michael, 10, and Ann, 8, both students at Pacific Manor school, is better known for her volunteer work marshaling citizen support behind the local libraries.

She has been Pacifica chairman of the American Association of University Women's committee on libraries and this year has been instrumental in organizing a friends of the library group.

During this year's Pacifica Art festival, this group sponsored a sale of used books to benefit the local libraries' book funds.

Shirley also has been active in pushing for the long-awaited Sharp Park branch library. Pacifica's temporary library center in Sharp Park was moved to make room for a freeway and has since been housed in a rented store on Palmetto avenue.

The San Mateo county library system has purchased a site for a permanent library on Palmetto near the sewer plant. (Shirley likes to stress that it overlooks the Sharp Park golf course and Mori's Point.)

Shirley has been active in getting Pacifica City Council support for library plans and for a community room in the library for club meetings.

It was her family that interested her in libraries, Shirley says,

"Adults can always find or buy something to read, but for the entire family nothing can substitute for what the public library can give.

"The local library is a cultural center, and a source of intellectual stimulation for the whole family—with its resources of books and other materials."

Shirley's husband, Al, a carpenter, also is active in civic affairs. He is a member of the Pacific Manor Improvement club and Moose lodge and works with Cub Scouts.

The entire family is active in scouting. Shirley is a leader and the youngsters are members of local troops.

Marines Set 'Giants' Unit

The U. S. Marine Corps is accepting enlistments for a 75-man San Francisco "Giants" platoon scheduled to leave for recruit training next Wednesday.

The platoon is being organized to compete with a similar unit, the "Dodgers" platoon, now being enlisted at Los Angeles.

The two platoons will compete for honors throughout an 11-week training period at the Marine corps recruit depot in San Diego.

Scheduled to depart from Candlestick park, the entire contingent will be sworn in at homeplate immediately prior to the Giant-Dodger game next Wednesday. Seats for the new marines and their families have been reserved.

After the game, the recruits will travel by bus directly to San Francisco International airport where the will board a jet for San Diego.

Young men, 17 to 28, who desire further information on how they may join this unusual platoon may call HE 1-1429.

Sugar 'n' Spice

By Nell Norton

COOKING and meal planning seems to run in cycles, not always dictated by the seasonal availability and variety of foods in the markets, but rather by the fact that one special dish becomes a favorite and comes immediately to mind when planning a dinner.

The following entree falls into that catagory in my files. I used it over and over (for different guests, I hasten to add) and then a new recipe or an old favorite returned to dominate the menu planning. A friend sent me a copy recently, commenting on it's many virtues, and once more it is in my very good graces.

It's an attractive and really impressive dish and makes your guests think you've been over that hot stove for hours, when actually, it can be prepared early in the day and set aside to cook for the dinner hour. I'd love to give credit to the paper or magazine from which I gleaned it but the name has disappeared in the years. That is one fact that recipe columnists know, "our names are forgotten, but the receipe lingers on."

HAM-BEEF ROLLS WITH FRUIT

½ cup evaporated milk or cream
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt, optional
dash of pepper
2 Tbsp. cornstarch
2 tsps. prepared mustard
3 large thin slices of ham whole cloves
2 Tbsp. butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup orange juice
1 cup fruit (more or less)

Mix ground meat lightly with evaporated milk, bread crumbs, onion, salt and pepper. Spoon one-third of mixture on each ham slice. Roll ham around meat. Stud with cloves and arrange, seam side down, in shallow baking dish (about 9x12 inches).

Melt butter blend in brown sugar, cornstarch, mustard and orange juice. Pour over meat rolls and bake in 350 degree oven about 30 minutes, basting several times with sauce in pan. Stir fruit into sauce and bake 15 minutes longer. Cut rolls in half, makes 6 servings.

Note: Use fresh or canned apricots, pineapple, peaches or grapes. (I found grapes the prettiest and also found that they gave the dish a more exotic appearance.,

ONCE MORE I want to share a recipe from Mrs. Rose Walthard of 971 Southgate avenue, Daly City. This Irish Apple Cake is so good and very easy to make. And with the egg whites you have left you can make a nice, white cake. If you use one of the white cake mixes that calls for 2 egg whites, just toss in that extra one, it will make it even lighter.

IRISH APPLE CAKE

3 cups flour
¾ cup sugar
½ teas. salt
3 egg yolks
1 cup butter
1 lemon rind, grated
1 can applecause, No. 303
½ teas. cinnamon
¼ teas. cloves

Grease square pan Mix flour, sugar, salt, egg yolks, butter and lemon rind together well and divide in two parts.

Press half the mixture into bottom of the greased pan. Mix applesauce, cinnamon and cloves together and spread on top. Crumble the rest of the mixture over on top of filling. Bake 40 to 45 minutes in 350 degree oven. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream, if desired.

Woodrow Wilson Holds 'International Night'

Children, parents and faculty of Woodrow Wilson school worked together on a successful and entertaining May program on "International Night," last week, according to the school publicity chairman.

Generosa Cabig played piano; Nellie Alonza sang a Mexican song; Jeanne Muylaert sang a Greek Song; Wesley Quon played Swanee River on the piano; Teresa Larot sang "Planting Rice", a Filipino Song; James Saribalis, a student from Colma, played the accordion; Cosette Urweider sang "Alouette" in French; Reynold Wong, a student of Woodrow with a great deal of promise for the future, played Chopin's "Valse."

A fashion show with costumes from foreign countries was then shown. Principal Ethel B. Hahn stole the show with her costume from Rangoon, Burma, and a cigar in her mouth. She explained the cigar as part of the costume used by the women in case of snake bite.

Honored guests Dr. and Mrs. J ohnH. Humber came in costume from India and Lebanon. They also commented on their trip around the world.

Foreign dishes from over 20 nations were donated by parents of Woodrow Wilson school.

ANNE LOMAY
Foundation Consultant

Consultant Plans Visit To Penney's

Foundation consultant for J.C. Penney company will be at the Westlake store today and tomorrow to advise women on their foundation problems.

Manager Donald Davis said the consultant, Ann Lomay, will analyze women's figures and demonstrate proper selection and fitting of foundation garments.

Miss Lomay underwent a prescribed training program at Penney's headquarters in New York before becoming a consultant. She is further qualified to assist women with their foundation problems through her work with them on regular visits to Penney stores in the area.

As part of her consultation, Miss Lomay will give women tips on what to look for in foundation garments and explain why accurate measuring and fitting are so important, particularly from the viewpoint of comfort.

"Research has shown that customers rely much more heavily on advice from salespeople in the selection of foundation garments than in the selection of other clothing," according to Miss Lomay.

Among reasons for this, she said, are social taboos and space limitations making it difficult for foundation garment advertising to offer sufficient information or advice to solve figure problems for most women. The importance of accurate measuring and fitting also make personal assistance extremely helpful she said.

In addition to being informed on figure types, anatomy, kind of garments and fashion, Miss Lomay has found an understanding of customer psychology important in selecting the right garment. "Most women are primarily interested in improved appearance, but confirmity, modesty, comfort and support are equally important motives for many," she said.

'Spanish Hour' Tops Opera Bill

By DON MILLER

Another season of spring opera is now history and if spring can be used as a harbinger, the big show in the fall should be one of the best ever.

One of the programs that contributed significantly to the Opera House program this spring was last Tuesday's imaginative doubleheader, Ravel's "Spanish Hour" and Bartok's "Bluebird Castle."

The two one-act operas are completely diverse in their story lines and more particularly in their moods.

Gallic Romp

"Spanish Hour," as mounted by the San Francisco Opera company, turned out to be a highly entertaining Gallic romp about an unfaithful clockmaker's wife, her intrigues with two old lovers and a newcomer.

"Bluebird's Castle" is a heavy tale of a man and woman who struggle to reach a rapport but are torn by the duality of the heavenly and earthly perspective of their souls.

The opera company's new production by Archie Sharp and Thomas L. Colangelo Jr. was greatly enhanced by a perfectly ethereal castle, cleverly lighted.

Of the two operas, "The Spanish Hour" easily won the doubleheader.

Lee Venora was just right as the clockmaker's wife; Richard Fredericks as the muleteer who ultimately won her affections was in excellent voice; Charles Bressler made an ideal poet-lover; Herbert Beattie added just the right touch of bumptious manner to his role as the rich lover and Nathaniel Lopez was properly unsuspecting as the clockmaker.

Stage Manipulations

Some unseen stage manipulations that required the secret exit of singers from the inside of some of the grandfather clocks were so adroitly carried out they almost deserved a separate round of applause.

"Bluebird" was marked by some excellent singing — when you could hear it—by Peter Harrower as Bluebird and Beverly Wolff as Judith, his fourth wife.

The trouble with this opera is that it's too much of an orchestral piece and too often Bartok's crashing cymbals and blaring brass drowned out the singers.

CSEA Holds Party for Mrs. Freeland

Mrs. Kay Freeland was recently honored at a surprise retirement party, given by the California School Employees association at Vallemar school. She will retire in July, after 10 years of service in the Laguna Salada district.

Mrs. Freeland's daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Herman White of Tennessee, were present along with many educators and a record crowd of members of C.S.E.A.

YWCA Holds Annual Dinner Dance Show

Travel posters set the mood for 120 gay party goers and H. Liebes provided the fashions for "Around the World with the YWCA," the annual "Y" dinner dance held at the Westlake Bowl.

The models took the diners jetting to Europe, sunning in Hawaii and camping with the family, as vacation clothes for all occasions were shown by YWCA members.

After dinner, Mrs. George Hersom, chairman, introduced Jerry Matlock and her hula dancers. They entertained with Hawaiian and Tahitian hulas which added considerable flavor to the evening.

This was the last of this season's monthly fashion shows.

The fashion luncheons will be resumed in the fall. Definite plans for all YWCA activities will be available at the YWCA Open House in September. For information and dates call the YWCA office at PL 6-7370.

Louanne's Datebook

By Louanne Heath

A BIG TURN out is expected this evening for the annual installation of officers of the Pacifica branch of the American Association of University to be held at the Sea bowl.

A no-host "Happy Hour" will begin at 6:30 p.m. immediately preceding the dinner meeting.

THE NAMES of two recent arrivals have been added to the baby roster during the past two weeks.

A daughter, Faye Alison Brackett, is now a well established member of the family of Mr. and Mrs. William Brackett of Pacifica.

Mrs. Katherine Mullin writes from Southern California to say that she became a grandmother for the first time at 10:47 p.m. on May 14 when Laurel Lynette Burne was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burne.

Despite the temptation to extend her visit, Mrs. Mullin has promised to be back in town in time to attend the June 24 meeting of the Jefferson Elementary school district board of trustees.

FRIENDS of Mrs. Sylvia Stienbach and Mrs. Mateel Todd will be happy to learn that both are recovering from recent ill health.

Mrs. Stienbach is retiring vice regent of the Catholic Daughters of America, Court St. Mary No. 1155 and Mrs. Todd is active in the American Association of University Women in Pacifica.

HOME again after two glorious weeks of sunshine and golf in Palm Springs are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evanson of South San Francisco.

IT WAS a sad day for the Cub Scouts of pack No. 248 when they ended the spring baseball season with a picnic and two baseball games.

In the first game the B team was defeated by a mother's team. A terrible blow to the young egos as many of the mothers professed complete ignorance of the skills of the game. One mother, Mrs. Lester Candee, a native of Germany, insisted it was the first time she had ever held a bat!

Later in the afternoon the A team also went down to defeat in their game with the dads.

THE NEW officers of the Mother's club of Our Lady of Perpetual Help were installed last night during a candlelight ceremony in the Parish hall.

Continuing on with the preparations for the show are committee members, Mrs. Richard Holmberg, general chairman; Mrs. Ben Parodi, co-chairman; Mrs. Joseph Drew, and Mrs. William McGuire, reservations chairmen.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Bergin, publicity chairman, reservations are already being accepted at PL 5-332 or PU 5-0785, and if you plan to attend you are urged to call soon.

ALSO installing officers this past week were the members of the Federated Women's club of Pacifica. The new slate of officers was installed at a lovely dinner meeting at Nick's Rockaway on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Fred Ballew will continue to serve as president and Mrs. Gordon MacDonald will remain first vice president. They will be assisted by Mrs. Bernard Torres, second vice president; Mrs. Richard Mendez, recording secretary; Mrs. Lionel Spencer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harlan Minshew, treasurer, and Mrs. Chanel Morais, auditor.

Special guests at the meeting were the four winners of the club's Jean Lambert Memorial Scholarship awards, Frances Harrison, Bonnie Schaffner and Jorgen Vindum and Gary Cochran. The two young ladies, along with all the new officers, were presented with orchids upon their arrival.

During the business segment of the evening the scholarship winners spoke briefly and the membership voted to donate $25 to the American Field Service project.

Mrs. Ballew bestowed the president's award for special service and exceptional contributions to the well being of the organization upon Mrs. MacDonald.

"So many of the women had helped such a lot I thought at first I just would skip the award this year rather than try to single one individual out for special consideration, but then Mrs. MacDonald was such an exceptionally good worker I felt she deserved the extra recognition," Mrs. Ballew commented in announcing the award.

THE CATHOLIC Daughters of America, Court St. Mary No. 1155, were also among those groups installing officers. The court members attended ceremonies certifying new officers in the parish hall of Our Lady of Perpetual Help last Thursday evening.

Tables Are Turned

THIS IS A SWITCH—Usually the photographer takes pictures of ribbon-cutting and cake slicing affairs. When Douglas Mack, noted baby photographer, opened his new studio in the Westlake Shopping Center, members of the Professional Photographers Ass'n., gave him a housewarming surprise party. Mack, cutting the traditional cake, gives the first bite to the studio mascot 'Pepe' who is being held by Mack's assistant, Lynn Dominguez, with photographers Karl Romaine, Natalie Rokusek and Don Faulkner doing the kibitzing.

Aucuba Elegant In Your Garden

Gardening in deep shade is often a problem. Even such shade garden favorites as tuberous begonias and fuchsias will sulk and refuse to bloom when grown in spots that lack sufficient light. One shrub that has no such problems is the "Greenleaf Acuba." This elegant evergreen would probably grow in a closet with the door closed.

It can always be counted on to produce a full mass of glossy green leaves and, as fall turns to winter, a crop of glistening big red berries. You could hardly ask for better performance. The California Association of Nurserymen suggests that aucubas are among the dozen best shrubs for western gardens and in heavily shaded areas, they rank number one. They have large, ornamental leaves with sharply serrated edges, grow five to eight feet high at maturity and require little attention other than water to keep them healthy and happy.

Not all members of the family are green. In fact, one of the most popular aucubas grown, is the familiar "Gold Dust Plant," which is heavily flecked with yellow variegation. And there are others in the family which produce mottled coats of yellow to a greater or lesser degree. One, the "Sulphur Leaf Aucuba," has broad yellow centers rimmed with green. It is more striking in some minds than the Gold Dust variety. There are variations among the greenleaf aucubas, too, with one especially worth looking for. This is the "Narrow Leaf Aucuba," a vigorous shrub with long, narrow leaves.

Aucubas are dioecious shrubs, which means simply that they are not self-reproductive. Male and female forms are therefore needed in the same garden or the wonderful berries will be missing when Christmas time arrives. Since the males do not bear berries, use only one of them in your planting plan. This will be sufficient to fertilize several females and give you all the berries you need. It is the female aucuba only, incidentally, which produces the mottling effect of the Gold Dust plant and other yellow leaf varieties.

You can use aucubas wherever a full-rounded shrub is called for and their use need not be limited strictly to shade. Full sun is too much, but filtered sun will suit them quite well. Aucubas make an attractive informal hedge, if you are looking for something new and unusual in this line for a shaded boundary.

There are various other shrubs which make suitable companions to the aucuba. One is Sarcococca, another glossy leaved evergreen which tolerates dense shade. It has a naturally open or rangy habit of growth which contrasts pleasantly to the tight mass of the acucuba and makes it suitable for espalier treatment against a shaded fence or wall.

There are several horticultural varieties of Sarcococca, but only one or two are of interest to the gardener and seldom more than the one variety, (Sarcococca ruscifolia) is available in nurseries. This is a four-foot shrub with shiny, two-inch leaves and intensely fragrant flowers in midwinter. These flowers are hardly visible in bloom, but they give way to red berries that are happily quite visible. These change to purplish colors as spring turns to summer.

Another companion for the aucuba is Skimmia and here again we have the combination of deep green leaves and red berries. Like the aucubas, skimmia is a dioecious shrub and needs both male and female plants in the garden to produce the glistening berries.

Plant of the Week

PLANT OF THE WEEK IS Oxalis Bowieana, also known as "Cape-Shamrock" and "Wood Sorrel." Mrs. Bert Metz, 6 Hillyiew court, Burlingame, uses this well-behaved member of the Oxalis family as a ground cover in a brick planter

HOMES & GARDENS

Oxalis Is Post Plant of Week

Oxalis bowieana, the Cape-shamrock, is The Post Plant of the Week.

Most of us know Oxalis corniculata, the yellow-flowered troublesome weed that gets into our lawns and spreads by means of little stems that seem able to root wherever they touch the soil. This weed pest is widely naturalized all over the United States and Canada and it can be seen along most roadsides or wherever you stop a car. One of the best controls is heavy applications of Ammonium sulphate, a high nitrogen fertilizer.

Oxalis bowieana has other close relatives with better reputations, though they are not so well known. Oxalis floribunda has the same clover-like leaves and flowers that range from white to pink, rose, lilac and crimson. It produces a mass of tiny bulbs that need to be lifted after the tops die down in summer, stored, then like gladiolus, planted again in the fall. Oxalis cernua, the Bermuda-buttercup, has bright yellow flowers borne high on slender stems. Leaves of this variety are mottled or have a purplish cast. The tiny bulbs that develop among the roots will naturalize in the open to produce large patches of color in spring.

Oxalis, or "Wood Sorrel" as it is known in the wild, is a large group of sour-juiced herbs. It gets its name from the Greek for sour in allusion to its sour juice. In Mexico some members of this family produce edible tubers.

All the cultivated oxalis have the clover-like leaves. They all fold up at night and on dark days so children and gardeners describe them as "going to sleep" when the sun isn't out. Most the varieties grown locally like a woodsy soil and fit nicely into the woodland garden.

Use Radish As Edging

Radishes have gone glamorous! Today it's smart and easy to grow your own. Even if you've never grown anything from seed before, radishes will win you a "green thumb" reputation overnight. As a radish-grower, you don't need even a garden, just a square foot or two along a sunny foundation wall. The lush green foliage will make a beautiful "show place" edging.

Radishes grow satisfyingly fast. Some varieties come to full maturity on only 21 days, making them ideal as an introduction-to-gardening for children, too. Think of it, they can have their very own plot right outside your kitchen door, a garden that grows at child-quick tempo and produces sparkling contributions to the dinner table.

Many and varied are the uses for radishes. In salads, of course, either slices or diced. Crisp, ice-white radish slices with their warm pink rings of outer skin blend so perfectly in any salad you make. And taste good. But do use them for garnish or relish, too. Have you tried these? "Roses"—slice off the tap root, then slice from the foot end towards the top making four or five thin petals around the radish. Chill in ice water to open. "Accordions"—slice almost through the width of the radish, first from one side then the other, six or seven times. Chill in ice water to open. This will elicit "oohs" and "aahs" from family and friends.

Real Estate Course Due

A new course on "Personal Selling, Persuasion and Consumer Behavior in Real Estate" highlights University of California Extension's summer program of real estate certificate courses.

The new course does not concentrate on specific selling techniques but is designed to provide a framework within which licenseees may extend their knowledge of the selling process.

Some of the topics to be covered are: the individual as a consumer; the psychology of persuasion; methods of analyzing elements of conflict in bargaining and persuasion, and the nature of the sales situation.

Teaching the course is Donald L. Thompson of the U. C. business administration staff. Classes will meet on Monday and Wednesday evenings at 7 in 133 Dwinelle hall, U. C. Berkeley campus, beginning June 17.

Los Angeles was the home of the world's longest running play, "The Drunkard," which ran for 9477 performances between July 6, 1933 and October 17, 1959.

To disguise leftover meats use them in the new packaged casserole mixes.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

Fund Leader Urges Look at Expenditures

Citizen community planners were warned last week that America's historic devotion to "bigger and better" health and welfare institutions may well lead to "a real rise" in expenditures for these services, already totaling more than $320,000,000 annually in the five Bay Area counties.

The warning, accompanied by a demand for critical examination of present methods of providing services, was made by Israel Smith of United Bay Area Crusade at the third annual meeting of Bay Area Welfare Planning federation in Golden Gate park.

Smith, director of agency allocations of the five-county united fund, challenged volunteer planners from Alameda, Contra Costa, Marin, San Francisco and San Mateo counties to ask themselves just two questions concerning costly institutions such as general hospitals, mental institutions, 24-hour care centers for all ages:

Questions

"Are our institutions, in fact, the special facilities we believe them to be? And, do all the people served in them actually need to be there?"

Smith cited findings from the recent study of expenditures for health, welfare and recreation in the Bay Area which he presented to the luncheon session as "financial inter-relationships which warrant attention and re-examination in evaluating present practices.

"For every $10 spent for institutional care of the mentally ill—usually in large institutions at a distance from the patient's home—we spent less than one dollar for outpatient psychiatric clinic services," the study director revealed. "The ratio is more than four to one from chronic care facilities as against rehabilitation services. We spent more for the care of children away from their homes than we spent for family counselling services."

President

In the brief business session, Robert J. Koshland of Hillsborough was re-elected president of the federation.

Developers Assn. To Hear Beise

S. Clark Beise, long time resident of San Mateo county, president of the Bank of America N. T. & S. A., and chairman of the San Francisco Bay Area council, will be the honored guest speaker at this month's annual dinner of the San Mateo County Development association to be held at the Villa hotel, San Mateo, 6:30 p.m., Tuesday.

Selecting as the title of his presentation "Progress Through Co-operation," Beise will be delivering his first local address that evening since his recent selection by the California Museum of Science and Industry as Californian of the Year.

He assumed the presidency of the Bank of America in 1954 when that organization had resources of eight and one-third billion dollars and 545 branches. Under his leadership, resources have now climbed past 13 billion dollars and there are now 830 branches.

Throughout his entire career Beise has devoted time to civic and welfare activities. Among his most recent accomplishments are service on the advisory council of the University of California school of business administration, the board of directors of both the United Bay Area Crusade and the Golden Gate chapter of the American Red Cross and his recent election as chairman of the San Francisco Bay Area council.

The Development association dinner will be the last official function of outgoing President Frank B. Ingersoll Jr., Burlingame attorney, and members that evening will elect a new slate of officers for the 1963-64 fiscal period.

Announcement will be made at that time of the election of those directors nominated to serve for the 1963-65 term.

Montara Man Named For Board

In a surprise move, Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch has "nominated" Hughes M. Blowers of Montara for the county planning commission to succeed M. R. Mattei, the present chairman.

"I wanted to name someone from a different part of the district," Hatch explained from his Half Moon Bay home, where he is recuperating from an operation. "It is a large district and I wanted someone from a different area."

Mattei is a rancher in the sparsely populated Pescadero area.

Hatch said he asked Mattei if he would mind stepping down after eight years of service on the commission.

"He was very agreeable about it," the supervisor reported.

"It will be healthy for the commission to have a change," Hatch added.

Blowers is a businessman and has served on the Montara Sanitary district board.

County Clerk John A. Bruning pointed out a technicality concerning the appointment of Blowers. Commission members, he said, are appointed by the board chairman, subject to confirmation by the board. Although Hatch has not been attending meetings because of his illness, he is still chairman of the board for this year. Thus his "nomination" of Blowers is in reality an appointment, needing only the board's.

Blowers' term will start July 1, concurrence to become official.

Jet Noise Relief Is Promised

Sound abatement officials at San Francisco International Airport Friday promised additional relief from aircraft noise over Peninsula cities with completion of the new runway extension in September.

Instrument landing facilities on existing east-west runway are now going into effect and should help the sound problem.

Captain William Townsend of the sound abatement committee said the wind and weather conditions at this time of year tend to make sound more noticeable. He said there is also an increasing number of long-distance flights in which the planes leave here heavily loaded with correspondingly lower takeoffs. The noise from these flights will be abated when the longer runways goes into use, he said.

A committee received 11 complaints from residents in San Bruno, San Francisco, South San Francisco and Hillsborough. The committee noted that normally strong winds for this time of year apparently have increased the effect of jet takeoff noise.

They said that another factor in the increased number of complaints is that warmer weather allows more people to have windows open and thus hear the planes better.

Speaking before the committee were San Mateo County Supervisor T. Louis Chess, South San Francisco City Manager Eugene Aiello and San Bruno City Manager Gerard Vergeer.

Each of these officials reported other complaints from citizens and were told that there has been no change in airport takeoff technique. They were promised that the airport and all airlines would continue to do what they can to abate the sound.

All Night Party Is Set

This Friday night the erra Nova P-TA will sponsor, for the second consecutive year, the totally unique All-Night Graduation party for seniors and their guests, according to Mrs. Bernice Monin, P-TA committee chairman.

This extravagant party, held completely within the school facilities, has been the subject of much discussion in recent months among other high school P-TA groups, according to Mrs. Monin's report. As a result, representatives of the Oceana high school branch will be on hand to observe the festivities this year.

In an effort to insure the graduates safe and inexpensive fun, the Terra Nova P-TA first considered the idea of an all-night party last year when Mrs. George Mason, P-TA president, and Mrs. Fred Ballew reported on similar arrangements sponsored by various schools in other parts of the state.

Mrs. Monin announced that this year the party will follow a similar format to last year's. All activities will be held on the upper floor of the building and the entire area will be well chaperoned by parent volunteers.

The evening will begin, immediately after graduation, with the ball, music provided by Bill Gerst and his rochestra. Mrs. Monin said that the feature film, "Gidget Goes Hawaiian" plus a number of cartoons, will be shown continuously in one of the rooms. A midnight supper will be served in the cafeteria between 12:30 and 1:30 a.m. with bingo games starting at 12:30 a.m. and continuing until 3 a.m.

Mrs. Monin said that the student variety show will follow immediately after the dance with organized games, a crazy sock hop and a community sing to follow. The sunrise swimming party will take place between 5:30 and 6:30 a.m. and the party will end with a breakfast at 7 a.m.

Despite the vast array of entertainment, food and prizes, the Terra Nova P-TA has managed to keep the cost to the seniors down to less than $2 and less than $4 for dates who are not members of the class. According to Mrs. Monin this is possible because of the co-operative spirit which exists between the students and the party sponsors.

"These kids go out and earn the money to help pay for this party," Mrs. Monin explained. "This year they raised the money to pay the orchestra by washing cars."

"We hope for a safe and sane graduation night," she continued. "We hope the seniors all come and have a wonderful time. If the parents have any questions I hope they will not hesitate to call me at 359-0925."

"I've had many people phone and offer assistance, so many in fact that I have had to tell many that I simply don't have any more jobs to fill. I'm just thrilled with the response," Mrs. Monin said.

Among those who will be on hand Friday are Mayor and Mrs. Harold Feyge, registrars; William Croman in charge of setting-up; Mrs. Rose Croader, breakfast chairman; Basil Gladieux, variety show chairman; Mrs. Lucy Muier in charge of the check room; Mrs. Shela Hyman, chaperone chairman; Mrs. Pat Keane and Mrs. Anita De Midovich, in charge of all night coffee, chocolate, punch and cookies; Mrs. Connie Mason, ticket chairman; James Cooper and Don Miller will be projectionists; Mrs. Frances Weirshaar will be responsible for the midnight supper. Mrs. Marion Ballew, chairman of sound equipment, and Larry Willey, chairman of the swimming party.

Mrs. Theda Capaci, working with the members of the junior class, has designed the decorations in the school colors, black, gold and white.

Dr. Harold Tonini, principal of Terra Nova, nd students Charlotte Ortesi and Ken Kirkland have provided the group with excellent advice and suggestions, Mrs. Monin concluded.

CSF Students To Escort Grad Parents

Proud parents of Westmoor High class of 1963 graduates will be escorted to their seats at the ceremonies Friday by members of the California Scholarship federation.

This year ushers from the junior class will include Jim Fotenos, John Cuniberti, Sherry Rosen, Lynn Jones, Linda Long, Mary Howard, and Diana Stipelkovich. Sophomore escorts will be Linda Owen, Stacy Cusulos, Cindy Cook, and Linda Wallace.

The C.S.F.'ers for their services will gain points toward $25 book scholarships awarded each year. Points are also obtained for holding office in the organization, as well as taking part in its projects and activities.

These total points for seniors are tallied each year by a committee including a representative from each class. This year's committee consisted of Bob Patent, senior; Jim Fotenos, junior; Linda Owen, sophomore; and Chris Perand, freshman.

The winners were Ann Irby, Jack Petranker, and Virginia Maches.

Sunday School Holds Picnic

A Sunday school picnic will be held by Bethlehem Lutheran church at the Junipero Serra park in San Bruno, Sunday, directly following the morning worship service, according to Rev. George S. Johnson, pastor.

There will be games and contests, under the direction of Mr. Emory Lebonville, in the afternoon and free ice cream, coffee, and "kool-aid" will be furnished.

Brickley Is Named 'Topnotcher

Charles Brickley, one of the top music talents at Westmoor, has been voted "Topnotcher" of the Westmoor chapter of the Modern Music Masters.

Brickley has played saxophone for the school dance band, but devoted much of his time to composing and arranging music.

Even though he is preoccupied with his music, Brickley has managed to maintain a high grade average and is an honor roll student. When he competed in the Spring Solo ensemble festival at San Mateo he received a III rating for his first alto sax solo.

For Westmoor's spring music festival "Out of This World," Brickley composed two numbers for the dance band, called "Dreams to Fear" and "Outer Space—Somewhere."

Teenager Asks . . .

By JOE BAVARESCO

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am going on 18 years old and I am really interested in governmental affairs. I am of the opinion that 18-year-olds should vote; do you agree? If not, why?

Too Young

Yes, I truly agree with you. After talking politics and civic issues with voters I find that most people don't really know what the --- they're voting for. They rarely read the propositions, they don't talk to or investigate who is running for office, and worst of all very seldom vote.

Eighteen - year - olds are fresh out of high school and have studied history and civics and are better qualified to vote and vote intelligently. As intelligently as 40 per cent of today's voters. I believe in the saying, "If 18-year-olds are old enough to fight in the armed service for their country, then they are old enough to have a say in its government."

People say that an 18-year-old doesn't have the responsibility or maturity to vote and I say "bologna." I know of people of voting age who don't know what responsibility to their own wife and family is, let alone civic responsibility. Yet these are the same people who are voting just to vote.

There are as many immature 18-year-olds as there are immature 30-year-olds and most of them vote the way their friends vote, simply because they are too stupid or don't have the time to read the issues. Yet these same people find time to moan and complain about the way our country is run.

Ask them what a certain proposition is and you draw a blank, ask them the league standing of the Giants and they have the answer.

On the whole I will say 18 years of age is a good voting age because if you don't vote from 18-21 during that time not only do you loose what you have learned in high school civics, but you lose interest.

Age does not bring maturity or civic responsibility. We are so willing and quick to put a gun in an 18-year-old's hands and send him off to war and protect us or die for us. But he doesn't have the responsibility to vote—something just doesn't balance out.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco:

I am 14 years old and I want to work this summer to get clothes for school. My parents can't afford too much. I do want to work and make money. Do you know what I can do?

Unemployed

Dear Unemployed:

Yes, fortunately the State of California realizes this problem and has organized a fantastic program. You register at Tenth and Mission streets, San Francisco. People who have jobs for teen-agers are urged to phone and let teen-agers do odd jobs around the house. For instance: mow the lawns, wash cars, babysit, and anything that could be done by a teen-ager.

This is great because the teenager gets money and doesn't feel he or she is tied down to an all-day job. However, if an eight-hour-a-day job is what you want, this too can be had through the state department office.

For successful job hunting:
Smile and be pleasant.
U listen and let employer talk.
Courtesy at all times.

DALY CITY RECREATION

Summer Program Is Outlined

AS THE role of teachers fades for the summer vacation, the role of the Daly City Recreation department suddenly expands.

Filling the leisure time of the thousands of children, falls on the shoulders of department head Charles Vincent and the Park and Recreation commission.

Vincent will be assisted this summer by Edward Tomasello, supervisor of recreation; Alan Boyd, supervisor of youth activities, and August J. Conci, superintendent of parks. Michael Orlich will be co-ordinator of the unincorporated area.

Special summer assistants are Robert Blevins, supervisor of special events, and Tom Pollicita, supervisor of recreation.

Last year the recreation department's 10-week program was participated in by 118,000 youngsters.

Vincent said the department this year plans "the most expanded summer program in its history."

A printed brochure outlining the program at 18 supervised facilities will be distributed through the schools.

They also will be available at the department office in the War Memorial Community center.

The department offers a wide range of activities for all age groups, except for children under seven years of age.

"It has been a long-standing department policy not to allow children under seven to participate in the recreational activities because of the special supervision and care required for this age group," Vincent said.

Full-length movies will return to the summer schedule after an absence of three years.

For an admission charge of ten cents to cover renting costs movies will be shown at schools Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Among some of the top-flight features to be shown are "The Frogmen," "Pride of St. Louis," "Mr. Scoutmaster," "My Brother Talks to Horses," "Prisoner of Zenda" and "Canterville Ghost."

A half-hour program of movie cartoons will be offered at 15 locations each week during the summer. There will be no limit to the number of youngsters attending and there will be no charge.

A NEW innovation in the program will be teen drama. Basically a club situation, teen-acting aspirants will try their hand in pantomime, monologue and stagecraft.

Group activity will be directed toward the production of stage presentations for performance before various community audiences.

The junior set of thespians will not be ignored. The Recreation department plans story-drama classes, 45 minutes long, for children of elementary school age.

The children will, after hearing favorite children's stories, enact them without scripts. The activity is designed as an introduction to drama.

The new tennis courts at Westmoor Park will be brought into the summer program for the first time.

Designed for youths eight years old and older, the department will offer basic instruction in such aspects of tennis as the grip, forehand, backhand and serve.

In advanced arts and crafts, the Recreation department will offer a gemstone jewelry class, a mosaics class and a copper tooling class.

The department also plans a program of playground arts and crafts in which the children will be given an opportunity to practice manual dexterity in several simple mediums, such as painting, cutting and pasting.

ONE SPECIAL event a week is planned for the ten-week summer session. Because of an expected huge turnout for the special events, the city will be divided into specific areas and the events will be spread over two days.

Kicking off the special events will be a play day and swim program June 20-21.

Other special events planned are: roller skating and a visit to Playland-at-the-Beach, individual playground outings, a trip to the zoo, a cruise on San Francisco Bay, a trip to Angel Island, penny carnivals, a Golden Gate Bridge hike and Mount Tamalpais trip, and a Fishing Derby on Lake Merced, co-sponsored by the Daly City-Colma Lion's club.

The special events program will be concluded August 22 with a city-wide Junior Olympics and Watermelon Feed.

The Young Women's Christian Association will co-sponsor a number of special classes with the recreation department.

Included are:

Creative Group Play, for ages three-five years, a program to prepare children for school. It will include crafts, arts, music, songs, singing games, reading time and little dances.

Basic dance, ages 3 to 5 years, an introduction to the fundamentals of creative expression. The class is designed to stimulate rhythmic responses to musical accompaniement.

Ballet dance, six to 12 years, to develop posture and carriage and opportunities for creative expression.

Hula dance, six to 12 years, all types of Hawaiian dances with special emphasis on the use of rhythmic implements to accompany the dance.

Teen charm, classes by a professional model to help teenage girls develop poise and learn good grooming techniques.

These co-sponsored classes require a fee.

THE RECREATION department also will co-sponsor a Daly City Youth band with the Westlake Music center.

The band will be open to any Daly City youth who plays a musical instrument. It will meet every Tuesday evening, 7 to 9 p.m., in the band room of Westmoor High school.

Kenneth Loeffler, director of the Westmoor band, will instruct the group.

With the addition of Youth Supervisor Alan Boyd, the teen program for the summer will be expanded.

The Hi-Fi Teen club will meet every Wednesday at the War Memorial Community center from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Activities of the club vary but generally include a recreation hour followed by a social dance. Recreational activities include intra-club co-ed volleyball tournaments, talent shows, entertainment, sports night, game and relay nights.

Special events during the summer include an eighth grade invitational dance, a Santa Cruz beach trip, a bay cruise-goat dance, trips to the Half Moon Bay drag races and Turtle Rock Ranch picnic, a back-to-school fashion show and a welcome-back dance.

Six junior high teen clubs, which serve the seventh and eighth grades of Daly City, Colma and Broadmoor, will meet every other Friday.

Some of the special summer activities of the clubs will include a Giant baseball game outing, Flood Park and Blackberry Farm picnics, bicycle hikes to Golden Gate Park, a beach party, a hayride, barbecue and swim party.

Special city-wide activities include an inter-club softball twilight league through the summer and an all-club family-style picnic in late August.

FOR ADULTS, the department sponsors several clubs. They are the El Camino Reelers Folk Dancers, the Daly City Belle-Tones and Community Chorus, the Daly City Garden club, the Daly City Rockhounds, the Daly City Chess club, the Daly City Numismatic society (coin-collecting) and the Jefferson Bridge club.

Special sports facilities are available for badminton, baseball, horseshoes, shuffleboard, softball, tennis, volleyball, weightlifting and swimming.

The Recreation department also will continue baseball leagues for youngsters and adults.

"All in all, it's going to be another busy summer for us," Vincent concluded.

S.M. Judges Demur on Probation

Judges of the superior court decided at a meeting yesterday to take no action at the present time for or against Senate Bill 1550, which would split the county probation department into two divisions—juvenile and adult.

Presiding Judge Wayne R. Millington said the judges decided that, because of amendments that have been made in the bill since the last time it was introduced, more time should be given for study before a stand is taken.

A somewhat similar stand was taken three hours earlier by the county Juvenile Justice commission. The commission agreed that more study of the bill's provisions is needed and recommended that the judges ask the legislature to hold off.

Judge Millington said, however, that the recommendation had not been forwarded to the judges by the time of their meeting. He said the judges have no present plans to ask the legislature to delay the bill.

The presiding judge said he personally has no objections to the measure, because it is merely a permissive bill. It would allow the county board of supervisors to split the department, with the concurrence of the superior court judges.

Meanwhile, the question of who asked that the bill be introduced in the first place has not been answered. Members of the Juvenile Justice commission demanded at their meeting Wednesday to know who was behind it.

County Manager E. R. Stallings, who persuaded the county board to endorse the bill and asked the judges to do the same, denied that he asked Senator Richard J. Dolwig to introduce the bill.

"This has been introduced for the last four or five sessions," Stallings said. "It is merely routine."

Senator Dolwig shed no light today on the question of who asked him to introduce the bill. A spokesman in his office said the senator "has had a lapse of memory about that."

Witness Lied Police Claim

A Colma man was jailed Thursday night after authorities proved to their satisfaction that he lied when he appeared as a prosecution witness in an auto theft case.

The suspect, Robert G. Klink, 29, 380 Washington street, had testified that he did not know the man he had accused of stealing his car—George A. Morse, 29, 43 Warner street, Daly City.

But investigation proved, according to Daly City Police Lt. David Hansen, that Klink and Morse were old buddies and had, in fact, served a year together in an army guardhouse.

And when Hansen and Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage went out to look for Klink, they found him in Morse's house, sharing a drink with his old friend.

Morse was arrested May 2 at Dunks and Washington streets in Daly City. Police said they caught him stripping a car there. At the scene was Klink's car. When Klink was contacted, he said he did not know Morse and that the car had been stolen from him. Morse was arrested and charged with petty theft and auto theft, the latter charge being a felony.

Preliminary hearing was held May 13 before Municipal Court Judge Charles Becker in South San Francisco. Kling appeared and testified under oath that he did not know the defendant. On the basis of his testimony, Morse was held to answer to superior court.

But the police officers and the prosecutor, Deputy District Attorney James Browning, were suspicious about Klink's testimony. They investigated and learned about the background of the pair.

Klink was booked at county jail on a felony perjury charge and was released on $1000 bail.

Browning said the auto theft charge against Morse will be dismissed but the charge of car stripping will remain.

Club Backs Annexation

The Daly City-Colma Democratic club has endorsed the annexation of the uninhabited section of Bayshore City to Daly City. The action came at a meeting of the club. A resolution will be forwarded to the Daly City council, stating the club's position.

New Members

Two new members have been welcomed into the Daly City-Colma chamber of commerce.

PARTS STOLEN

L & M Auto Parts at 7046 Mission street reported to Daly City police over the weekend that thieves had stolen a fuel pump and tachometers, valued at $126. Police said the thieves broke a side window in the building.

3 Patio Party Sandwich Treats

THREE EASY SANDWICHES, internationally inspired, are perfect for porch or patio parties. The mainstay in each is canned salmon. Colorful chunks and flakes of moist, delicate salmon are transformed into a delicious, versatile sandwich filling.

SALMON SANDWICH FILLING

A 1-pound can salmon
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated onion
Dash freshly ground pepper
1 cucumber, chopped
½ cup finely chopped celery
1 tomato, peeled and chopped
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon French dressing
Salt to taste.

THE COPENHAGEN ROUND
(Center)

Spread sandwich filling thickly over half a round loaf of pumpernickel. Slice pie-fashion and decorate top of each serving with half a slice each of tomato and cucumber. Lemon slice in center.

SICILIAN BOAT
(Foreground)

Spread sandwich filling over half a loaf of French bread. Decorate with thin twists of cucumber.

THE NEW YORKER
(Rear)

Slice a long loaf of rye bread and make into sandwiches with salmon filling. Reform loaf and run a long skewer through center, anchoring sandwiches at each end with a radish.

Italian Utensils Will Add Gusto

Italian kitchen utensils make lighter work of cooking. Such items as an onion and garlic press eliminate some of the less pleasant kitchen chores while others add a professional touch to baking and party fixings. Corkscrews, poultry shears, nut crackers and pepper grinders perform utilitarian tasks with greater efficiency.

Cooking, an important matter in Italy, is done with the same gusto and exuberant spirit as the eating which follows. The Italian cucina isn't intricate or ritualized but each step is carried out in a well-organized manner with appropriate utensils.

For the Italian homemaker — as for most European housewives who spurn cans and can't afford frozen or other prepared foods— it is the perfect utensil for each chore that reduces the onerousness of cooking to a pleasurable daily routine.

Many of the kitchen tools so important to meal preparation there are now available here. The invaluable onion press that not only takes the tears out of onion squeezing, but also purees other vegetables is among these as is its smaller counterpart, the garlic press. Extremely well designed, they're both a delight to look at and use.

A scale-scoop resembling an over-sized spoon on a scale base is a heaven-sent answer to anyone who must measure their intake. It measures in both grams and ounces.

By now the handsome brass corkscrew with the two side arms that lift the cork out of the bottle, eliminating the tugging of convention types, must surely be a part of every household equipment. If not, it's highly recommended.

Tossed Smoke Tongue Salad

Happy combination of ingredients for the classic chef's salad.

Hot or Cold Soup Crackers
Tossed Smoke Tongue Salad
Homemade Melba Toast
Beverage

TOSSED SMOKED TONGUE SALAD

1½ cups each torn iceberg and romaine lettuce
½ cup thin celery crescents
¼ cup minced parsley
2-3 cup Swiss cheese strips
2-3 cup smoked tongue strips
3 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons garlic-flavored red wine vinegar
1 tablespoon minced red onion
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper

Arrange the lettuce, celery, parsley, cheese and tongue in a salad bowl; cover tightly and refrigerate. At serving time toss well with the oil, vinegar, onion and Parmesan; add salt and pepper to taste. Makes 4 servings.

When making baked casseroles, it is important to use the size baking dish called for in the recipe. Too big a dish will cause liquid to evaporate and food will be dry; liquid may bubble over if dish is too small.

Green Peas, Dried Beef In Jig Time

Steamed Rice Bread Tray
Cottage Cheese and Peach Salad

1 package (8 ounces) frozen green peas with cream sauce
½ to 1 teaspoon curry powder, if desired
1 jar (about 5 ounces) dried beef
1 or 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Place contents of package of peas in a saucepan with the milk. Cover and over medium heat bring just to a boil. Remove from heat and stir until sauce is smooth. Add curry powder, if used, and stir until blended with sauce. Meanwhile rinse dried beef with hot water; drain well. Heat butter in a 9- or 10-inch skillet; add beef and cook quickly, turning, until slightly crisp. Serve peas with beef. Makes 3 servings.

Pacific Parade

By DON MILLER

IN THE MANNER of great pyramids of Egypt, the Panama Canal and the St. Lawrence Seaway, man in almost our own backyard has begun what someday will be the highest dam in the United States and the highest embankment non - concrete dam in the world.

It's the Oroville Dam, some 160 miles north of here in the beautiful Feather River canyon country.

The dam is the key unit and the northern anchor of California's ambitious $1.4-billion statewide water project, which is the first project of its magnitude in the nation and set in motion only after a long period of haggling over plans and finances.

The Oroville undertaking now is in its third year of construction. At this point, we'd suggest it be placed close to the top of your list of places to see in California this year. For unless you get a gander at this eye-opening project in its infancy, you won't quite appreciate what went into its building after the big earth movers grind to a halt sometime in 1968.

To give the public a sort of sidewalk superintendent's view of all that's going on up on the Feather River, the state's Department of Water Resources has prepared a handsome observation area, high on a hill overlooking the dam site.

Highway signs in and outside of Oroville tell you how to reach the overlook. A paved parking lot for 150 cars and an information building of redwood have been constructed at the observation site, which is operated by the state's Department of Beaches and Parks.

A department man is on duty to answer questions that aren't answered by a tape recording of information played throughout each day.

From the observation area, you get a truly informative view of just what's going on at Oroville and the scope of what our state has tackled up there boggles the eye.

THE DAM is being constructed in stages in a way that might be compared to a child piling building blocks, one on top of another.

Instead of building blocks, however, the dam's contractors are piling great gobs of fill material into the Feather River canyon. This material will total 77.5 million cubic yards of fill and almost all of it will consist of tailings from old gold dredging operations carried on in and around Oroville during the earlier part of this century and the latter part of the last.

The tailings will be hauled to the dam site by a railroad to be expressly built for the project, the route of which will vary as the height of the dam increases.

When completed, the gargantuan pile of dirt will tower 735 feet or as high as a 75-story building. It will be one and a third miles wide at the top and about 10 city blocks wide at the bottom. At the core, an underground power plant housed in concrete will be operated.

As you stand at the public overlook area today, you see huge billboard-size signs indicating the years 1963, 1964 and so on through 1968, marching up both sides of the canyon.

Each sign marks the height the dam should reach at the end of the year indicated by the sign.

Now, in mid-1963, it seems a bit far - fetched that all you see far below the observation area will be covered with old gold mining tailings and that deep beneath it all a power plant will produce, at the outset, enough electricity to supply the needs of a million persons for a year.

To prepare the dam site, workers have cut down a forest oftr ees that once covered the gently sloping sides of the Feather River canyon at this point.

The effect is as if someone had lathered the slopes and swept a giant straight razor back and forth, giving the canyon a clean shave. A brave stubble of grass and scrub has appeared on the slopes since the shave but the tall, stately trees have disappeared forever.

WHILE STANDING at the railing of the observation area, you hear a steady hum of machinery and as you look out over the panorama below, you see that it's coming from a horde of mechanized "ants" creeping up and down, back and forth the canyon slopes.

These "ants" constitute a vast fleet of multi-wheeled earth movers, bulldozers, trucks and tractors assembled to build Oroville Dam.

Ultimately, it's expected that some 8000 men will be at work with these machines and other implements and that another 50,000 persons will move into the Oroville area to operate a raft of new business and services the workers and their families will use.

This influx, of course, promises to have quite an impact on an area that now boasts a population of only some 35,000.

The dam will flood some of the most picturesque and virgin land in California—a fact that has made the project highly controversial and the target of the wrath of naturalists and conservationists.

It has forced, at a cost to the state of $50-million, the rerouting of the Western Pacific railroad's famed Feather River right-of-way out of the canyon, eliminating for passengers of the domed California Zephyr 20 miles of spectacular canyon vistas.

We were aboard a steam locomotive excursion train two weeks ago that ran up the now-abandoned canyon route, which in the next decade will be entirely inundated. It probably was the last passenger train (albeit one with flatcars with railings and benches) that the canyon will ever host and to many aboard, the trip was filled with nostalgia.

But the picture isn't all bad. Far from it. The Oroville Dam will create, in time, a picturesque fish-stocked lake (in the manner of Lake Berryessa) with a shoreline 167 miles long.

Plans have been prepared for ten diversified recreation sites around the lake and along its tributaries. They will range in size from a few acres to more than a square mile.

Some of the smaller areas will be accessible by boat only and these should afford the true adventurer a delightful experience in primitive camping.

When all these recreation sites are completed, tate figures they'll accommodate each year rough-11 million visitors each spending a day in the area.

Which is, when you stop to think of it, a pretty hefty figure—far above what the Feather River country could service today

'Revolution' in Education Is Outlined

DR. HELEN HEFFERNAN, chief of the bureau of elementary education, in the California State Department of Education, cautioned a group of teachers and administrators Thursday "not to sleep through a revolution."

Speaking at the first program of the newly-organized Daly City Association for Childhood Education, Mrs. Heffernan said there is a revolution in education going on and they should prepare themselves to meet new demands.

"The individuality of the individual must be protected," she said. "We must never forsake the belief that every child is a human being and is important."

Mrs. Heffernan, who has studied the educational systems of 28 countries, said the unique thing about American education is "that we are concerned with all the children."

She said the teachers "must not be afraid to oppose anything contrary to these beliefs."

Mrs. Heffernan took part in a conference at West Point recently on "school dropouts."

POSSIBLE DROPOUTS may be "spotted" early in school at the elementary level, she said.

"The problem begins when the child has serious difficulty in meeting the demands of the school. We need guidance psychologists and psychiatrists beyond anything at the elemtary level at the present time."

The educator said the teachers "must enhance themselves" to a point where they have a greater influence on the child in a pupil-teacher relationship.

There must also be an improved collaborated relationship between the teachers and the parents, she said. "Education is not exclusively a function of the school, but a joint enterprise."

The dropout rate in California is one of the lowest in the nation, somewhere between 18 and 25 per cent, she reported. In some parts of the country it is as high as 50 per cent.

"We're sunk as a people if we don't concern ourselves with the dropouts."

THERE ARE several things that have been discovered that are "of hope to the teacher," she said.

Among them are:

"The concept of fixed intelligence is no longer valid. Intelligence is the interaction of the organism with its environment. The intelligence of our children can be improved with nursery schools, better kindergartens and smaller classrooms.

"Motivation and attitudes are experienced determined and experienced modified." By providing different experiences we can improve the motives and attitudes of children, she said.

"Where variations and deprivations occur, patterns of development are disturbed." In cases of divorce, death, separation and moving, the effect on the child is known and can be compensated.

The Daly City chapter of the Association for Classroom Education, usually known as ACE, is awaiting its charter.

The organization will be a branch of the California association. It is devoted to the education and well being of children in the classroom.

Those interested in joining may contact Mrs. Margery Yates at WY 2-1000. Georgina Nyhan is president of the group.

Pauline Brown school. Residents Meet In Safety Talk

Following a child's injury by a hit-run auto on Alicante drive in Pacifica, neighbors met with Police Chief Neil Tremaine to see what can be done about hazardous traffic conditions on their street.

Last week John Geertsema, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Geertsema of 1185 Alicante, was struck by a careering auto as he was playing in the driveway of his home. At Kaiser hospital this week, he was reported to be "doing all right."

Driver of the car, Robert Lyle Farley, 18, a soldier at the Presidio in San Francisco, was charged in South San Francisco municipal court with felony hit and run and felony drunk driving. A 16-year-old girl companion was sent to Hillcrest pending action by county juvenile authorities.

According to police, Farley was speeding up to pass a school bus near Banyon way when he lost control of his car in an effort to avoid an on-coming auto.

Farley's car jumped the curb, skidded 87 feet across lawns and driveways and struck the child who was thrown 21 feet against a corner of the next house.

From the license number supplied by witnesses, police located the car and arrested Farley near the girl's home.

Police Chief Tremaine said that 25 people living in the vicinity of Alicante between Banyon and Manzanita attended the meeting last Thursday night. He said they were chiefly concerned by what could be done to provide for better traffic law enforcement.

Tremaine said he told the citizens that the Pacifica police force has no one assigned specifically to traffic work and that an additional traffic motorcycle officer would be very helpful. He said he expected that a request for such an officer would be included in the forhcoming ciy budge.

The police chief was also asked about the long-delayed bridge at the end of Rosita road, near the end of Linda Mar boulevard. This was intended to be the main route through to Terra Nova High school and Ortega school.

The bridge, however, was washed out in last September's storm and has never been replaced. As a result, buses travel over Alicante, a curving steep street, to the dismay of residents.

Various petitions to improve the situation have come before the city council in the past. Latest word was that the bridge and another one needed further along Terra Nova boulevard would be installed soon by builder Andy Oddstad as part of his Linda Mar No. 31 subdivision.

At last week's meeting Tremaine said he also agreed to refer to the city's safety committee a suggestion that a stop sign at Banyon and Alicante be moved to Manzanita. In its present location on the brink of a hill, heavy vehicles sometimes do not stop because they will be unable to start again.

Tremaine described the citizens at the meeting as all very reasonable and realistic in their desire for an improvement in the situation. Those connected with the meeting refused to discuss it or their point of view. A representative said that they wished to avoid publicity at this time.

Parent Hits School Policy On Discipline

An objection to the practice of suspending students for misbehavior has been registered by a Pacifica parent before the Jefferson Union High school board.

In a letter to trustees, Mrs. Bonnie Blair, of 500 Beaumont boulevard, said that suspension "should definitely be subject to hearing by a suitable and authoritative board with counsel for the offender unless waived by the offender and his legal guardian."

Mrs. Blair, who sent copies of her letter to State Superintendent of Instruction Dr. Max Rafferty and Assemblyman Leo Ryan, urged that "detention, not suspension, is a far better answer to the problem of discipline."

Discipline of students is the responsibility of schools, at least during school hours, claimed Mrs. Blair who stated "we cannot depend upon parents."

Mrs. Blair said that "many parents are unable to cope with their children, there are even some who do not care enough to bother" and "there is an ever-increasing percentage of families with both parents working."

She asked Jefferson trustees to review the district's discipline code, "Standards of Public Behavior" and to revise their approach on suspension. Jefferson trustees discussed Mrs. Blair's letter in a closed executive session.

Bay Fill Proposal Is Beaten

An effort to call a halt for four years to further filling-in of San Francisco Bay shallows has lost in the legislature.

The assembly ways and means committee sent the bill by Assemblyman Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, to between-sessions study Friday.

His bill would have exempted public projects and private developments already under way. Opponents, however, said it would cause severe financial loss to persons who are planning new bayshore developments.

Opponents said only a few hundred acres will be filled in the foreseeable future, but Petris predicted the total will reach thousands of acres before the 1965 legislature convenes.

Flood Bill Is Signed

Governor Brown Wednesday signed the San Mateo county flood control sub-zone bill and it goes into effect immediately. Assemblyman Leo J. Ryan (D-South San Francisco) announced in Sacramento last week.

This means that the county can begin putting together a flood control district to control the waters of Colma Creek.

The bill was sponsored by Ryan and co-authored by Senator Richard Dolwig.

Ryan pointed out that South San Francisco alone spent $50,000 in coping with floodwaters from Colma Creek in the flooding that occurs every spring.

Ryan said his bill allows the board of supervisors to assess within the flood control area according to sub-zones of property benefit, rather than on a straight ad valorum basis.

Cities in northern San Mateo county had objected to assessment where there was little or no direct benefit. In addition, the bill permits a city to elect to pay the cost from its general fund, instead of having it go as a special assessment on the tax bill of the individual property owners.

Bike Hike Set By Judea Youth

The Judea Organization of Youth (JOY) of Temple Judea will go on a bike hike Saturday.

Members of the young people's group will meet at the temple, 95 South Mayfair avenue, in Westlake at 10 a.m. Saturday. From there transportation will be provided to Golden Gate park, where they will all rent bicycles for an all-day bike ride in Golden Gate park.

Lunch is planned at Stow lake.

All young people interested in joining in this activity are requested to contact Miss Linda Taylor at PLaza 6-4425, so that adequate tranpsortation arrangements may be made.

Letters From Our Readers

TO THE EDITOR:

We, the members of the Daly City Belle-Tones and Community chorus, wish to express our appreciation to you and members of your staff for your continual interest in this new community activity.

As director, I know that many members have joined us through reading about our activities in your paper. Audiences often tell us they have read about us previously in the paper.

All of our bookings are the direct results of newspaper publicity. In this way, your newspaper is giving far more community service than perhaps you realize.

In particular, may we thank Don Miller for his interest in us, us and our Christmas activities; Ron Bates, for his terrific 'feature' on us in February when we performed "Songs of the Gilded Age," and photographer Howard Frankhouse, for his very comical photos accompanying this same feature. (By the way, Mr. Frankhouse stayed on and sang with us, and now is a member of our baritone section. He has a marvelous voice!)

We join with the myriads of other organizations, who owe a debt of thanks to newspapers such as yours.

Patti Stolz

TO THE EDITOR:

We hear and read so much of the delinquent acts of today's youths that we feel any of youth's humanitarian efforts should be brought to light. We hope that you will publish this letter from the parents of one recipient of a youth's "Good Samaritan" act.

This past Sunday (June) our youngest son fell from his bicycle while riding near the TV towers in the nearby hills. His companion flagged down a car of youths brought him home to us in their car. In our anxiety to get prompt medical attention, we failed to note the name, etc. of the driver. We hastily said, "Thank you for bringing him home for us," and quickly left for the hospital.

We hope the youths will read this and understand how deeply grateful we are for their kindness — and to our "thank you," we'd like to add "God Bless."

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rideau

To The Editor,

As publicity chairman for the Crocker-Pershing P-TA, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your excellent cooperation we have received. Your efforts in helping to publicize the activities of our P-TA have been greatly appreciated.

Through your assistance, the Crocker-Pershing P-TA publicity book has received recognition from the 17th District of the Parent-Teacher Association.

We hope that next year we will continue this very satisfactory relationship and that you will extend your same courtesies to the 1963-64 officers.

Thank you again.

Mrs. Alfred Parodi,
Publicity-Chairman,
Crocker-Pershing P-TA

TO THE EDITOR:

On behalf of the Daly City-Colma Democratic club, I would like to offer my sincere thanks for the excellent publicity we received on our annual smorgasbord. We had an excellent turnout, primarily due to your advance stories on the affair.

Let me especially commend your reporter, Ron Bates, whose full co-operation we received and valued.

We look forward to a pleasant relationship with The Post.

Mrs. Gladys Dillingham

New Bookie Raid Held

Daly City police, keeping pressure on bookmaking operations in the north county, raided an apartment at 60 Westlake avenue late Wednesday afternoon.

The occupant had fled, police reported.

A quantity of bookmaking materials was seized, and officers remained in the apartment to take bets over the phone, they said.

The apartment was registered to Robert Tobin, which police said is a phony name. An arrest is expected shortly, they added.

There is no apparent connection, officers stated, between this operation and a ring of bookmakers which was broken two weeks ago in a co-ordinated raid between local police departments, the district attorney's office, and internal revenue service agents.

WINDOW BROKEN

Raymond W. Kraft of 157 South Parkview avenue, Daly City, reported to police over the weekend that someone had broken a plate glass window in his home with a golf ball.

Foster Receives Degree

Richard T. Foster, superintendent of the Jefferson Elementary school district, became "Dr. Foster" last month when he received his doctorate in education from the University of California at Los Angeles.

The doctorate is awarded following completion of course work, oral and written examinations and a dissertation.

The band personnel, primarily composed of seventh and eighth graders, is under the direction of Boyd Johnson, Rudy Salvini, and Will Heys, instrumental music teachers of the Laguna Salada Union school district.

Sweetbreads Used in Easy Broiler Meal

Quick broiler meals on lazy days, when you feel like spending as little time as possible in the kitchen, can be full of surprises. Take the unique grill combination of Canadian-style bacon, pineapple and sweetbreads. It's on the table in a jiffy and yet is such a treat to eat. The use of a less frequently prepared meat attracts attention, too.

Sweetbreads fall into the classification known as variety meats and are considered a delicacy by many gourmets. Introduce this delightful meat variation to your family, if sweetbreads aren't already familiar to them.

For serving broiled, chilled or in creamed dishes, sweetbreads should be pre-cooked. Meat cookery expert Reba Staggs says that a little vinegar or lemon juice added to the water keeps them firm and white.

Sweetbreads—Canadian-Style Bacon—Pineapple Grill

1 quart water
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
6 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut ¼-inch thick
6 pineapple slices
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Wash sweetbreads. Add water, salt and vinegar or lemon juice. Simmer 20 minutes. Drain. Remove membrane and divide sweetbreads into 6 servings. Place Canadian-style bacon slices and pineapple on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the surface of the meat and pineapple is about 3 inches from the heat. Broil 4 minutes, turn meat and pineapple. Arrange a slice of Canadian-style bacon on each pineapple slice and top with sweetbreads. Brush sweetbreads with butter or margarine. Continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes or until lightly browned. 6 servings.

Start a Pot Roast Under The Broiler

Summer or winter, there's nothing like a pot roast to please the man of the house. This one has all the traditional tender goodness of the pot roasts mother watched over so carefully, but it's made by a new and easy method.

There's no searing in hot, spitting fat. Instead, slip the roast under the broiler until the meat is brown and sizzly as a steak, then cover and cook to succulent tenderness.

Starting with a thick slice of beef chuck, place the meat in a heavy pan to which a cover can be added later. Or, if you prefer, use a sheet of heavy foil large enough to seal after browning.

Broil the roast to a deep brown, about 10 minutes on each side. Then add salt, pepper, onions, catsup, and mushrooms when you want extra elegance. Cover and roast about two hours in a hot oven. If you use foil, seal the roast carefully and finish in the oven.

The pot roast will be tender, juicy, and flavorful—with a delicious brown gravy that may be thickened or served as is.

Note for a hot day

For a hot meal and a cool hostess, prepare the pot roast in the morning, staying out of he kitchen while it roasts. Just before dinner-time, heat it over the charcoal grill or stove.

Note for Freezer Fans

With the foil method, it's easy to make a smany pot roast sat one time as your broiler will hold After the roasts have cooled, reseal foil and place in the freezer, ready to heat and serve at a moment's notice. Or cook an extra large roast and freeze half of it.

Note for Calorie Counters

Starting th e roast under the broiler adds no extra calories in the way of fat to brown the meat. To cut calories even more, prepare the roast in the morning, cool and plac ein the refrigerator. Before heating to serve, remove the solidified fat from the drippings. You'll have a delicious, tender roast sans fat.

BROILER BROWN POT ROAST

5 to 6 pound chuck roast, round or blade bone, cut 2to 2½ inches thick
1 cup thinly sliced Bermuda onion
½ cup sliced mushrooms—either fresh or canned (optional)
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup catsup

Place roast in a heavy pan to which cover can be added later or on large piece of heavy duty foil in shallow baking pan. Broil 3 inches from heat source until well browned, about 10 minutes per side. Turn and brown second side. Remove from broiler; drain of ffat. Arrange onion and mushroom slices on meat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; drizzle with catsup. Cover pan or, if foil is used, crimp edges together to make a tight seal. Bake in hot oven (425 degree F.) until meat is tender, allowing 20 minutes per pound. Slice in thin crosswise slices. Yield: 10 to 12 servings.

Hearty Olive Picnic Salad Is Flavorful

Call it a picnic, a cookout, a barbecue or what-you-will, it will be a much more flavorful occasion when "Heart Olive Picnic Salad" is on the bill of fare.

This is a macaroni salad to be prepared ahead of time to allow for proper chilling. It's flecked with slivers of dark and handsome ripe olives and chopped pimiento, parsley and onion. Garlic powder provides extra lift, while mayonnaise and dairy sour cream supply delightful moistness.

Here's a particularly appropriate eating treat to enjoy during Dairy Month in June. Be sure to pack it in a cold thermal unit or a plastic container placed in a camper cooler if the outdoor feast is being planned for the beach, the park or the mountains.

And stow a can or two of ripe olives in the picnic hamper for pleasurable out-of-hand eating. Their mellow, nut-like flavor finds favor with youngsters and oldsters alike.

HEARTY OLIVE PICNIC SALAD

1 cup ripe olives
½ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vinegar
¼ teaspoon garlic powder

Cook macaroni as package directs. Rinse under cold water and drain. Cut olives lengthwise into thin slivers. Combine all ingredients. Chill well before serving.

Makes about 1½ quarts.

Eat Outdoors These Days

"Let's eat outdoors," says the homemaker when she has a good supply of wieners in the refrigerator. The fire builder is usually self-appointed, leaving the rest of the family to collect the ingredients for a hearty, quick cookout . . . buns for the wieners, lots of raw vegetables to nibble, potato chips or your favorite potato salad, and tall glasses of cool fresh milk.

Try this new salad idea for your next sinner party. Blend ripe olive wedges, bits of anchovy and a little white dinner wine with mayonnaise. Serve on artichoke hearts in lettuce cups.

Shrimp Gets Lift With a Marinade

Avocado and cucumber cubes are marinated with shrimp in a zippy dressing, then served with a garnish of tomato wedges for sumptuous "Shrimp Salad Royale." Lemon juice, instant minced onion and a hint of chili powder give the dressing its solid character. Instant minced onion is a real boon to the busy homemaker. Simply measure the amount you need in a recipe, and you get true onion flavor without the labor of peeling, slicing and chopping onion.

SHRIMP SALAD ROYALE

1 medium-size cucumber (or 1 cup sliced celery)
1 can (4½ oz.) deveined shrimp
Lemon-Onion Dressing
Salad greens
Tomato wedges

Lemon-Onion Dressing:

½ cup lemon juice
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon sugar
⅛ teaspoon chili powder

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Cut fruit into small cubes. Pare and drain shrimp. Marinate avocado, cucumber

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Cut fruit into small cubes. Pare cucumber, leaving on some of the rind; cut into cubes. Rinse and drain shrimp. Marinate avocado, cucumber and shrimp in Lemon-Onion Dressing 1 hour. Remove from dressing, heap onto greens and garnish with tomato. Serve remaining dressing in bowl.

Lazy Cook's Barbecue Sauce Idea

When it came time to select a name for an especially good and easy barbecue sauce, "Lazy Cook's Sauce" won out because it tells the story so well. This mixture of Sherry, oil and seasoning couldn't be simpler to make. However, it does a remarkable job of flavoring chicken, salmon or lamb. With a slight change, it is equally complimentary to beef.

California produces many different brands of Sherry, varying from dry to sweet. In this recipe, either the dry or medium will be most suitable. When you select the Sherry, shop for some of the pleasant dinner wines produced in our most populous state. Red, white and pink dinner wines are widely distributed throughout the country. All go well with barbecued foods.

LAZY COOK'S BARBECUE SAUCE
(Makes about 1 cup)

½ cup California Sherry
¼ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon thyme
¾ teaspoon seasoned salt
2 teaspoons soy or Worcestershire sauce
1 to 2 tablespoons wine vinegar

Combine all ingredients in a covered jar; shake to blend well. Use as barbecue basting sauce for chicken, salmon or lamb. Makes about 1½ cups sauce for use with beef.

Tomato Variation

Use ½ cup California Burgundy or Sauterne in place of Sherry and ½ teaspoon oregano in place of theyme. Add ½ cup catsup or chili sauce. Makes about 1½ cups sauce for use with beef.

Economist Suggests Salad

A home economist suggests a cool, tempting salad for welcome relief from summer heat. To make four generous servings, combined one cup shredded cabbage with one 8-ounce package of sandwich spread, two tablespoons salad dressing and one teaspoon lemon juice. Chill. Serve in a tomato or lettuce cup.

Here's a flavorsome way to prepare garlic bread: Grand ¼ teaspoon of garlic chips in a garlic mill and blend with 4 tablespoons of softened butter. Spread on French bread or hard rolls, split in half. Toast and serve hot.

Everybody Loves 'Finger Foods'

Everyone loves finger foods because they add an atmosphere of fun and informality to your family meals or when you entertain guests. Finger foods also present an opportunity to create colorful and delicious appetizers, main dishes or desserts. And you have such a wide selection of meats, seafoods, eggs, fruit, vegetables and dairy foods to use that you are bound to please everyone's appetite. Here is a group of new finger food ideas gathered from all parts of the country which will make you the "hostess with the mostest."

OLIVE SALAD ON CHIPS

2 hard cook eggs
1 tbsp. ripe olives, chopped
¼ tsp. salt
1 tbsp. relish
Mayonnaise
18-20 large crisp potato chips
Pimiento

Chop eggs and olives fine, add salt and relish and stir in mayonnaise to just hold mixture together. Drop a heaping teaspoonful into center of each chip. Garnish with pimiento. Serve at once.

DANISH CHIPWICH

¼ c. mayonnaise
¼ c. finely chopped pickled onions
Hard cooked egg
Green pepper—chopped
Olives, sliced
Large potato chips

Stir mayonnaise and onions into crabmeat. Spread on large crisp potato chips and garnish with olve slices or green pepper strips and hard cook egg slices.

HA MAND NUT CHIP CONES

1 tbsp. chili sauce
¼ c. thinly sliced Brazil nuts
¼ c. crumbled potato chips
Mayonnaise
prepared mustard
Rye bread (real fresh)

Blend ham, chili sauce, nuts, and potato chips with enough mayonnaise to spread. Spread fresh bread slices lightly with mustard, then with ham mixture. Roll into cone shape and hold together with toothpicks. Lay on shallow pan and place in hot oven 475 degrees, until bread is toasted. Serve hot.

AVOCADO DELIGHT

Avocado (about 8 oz.)
Cream cheese (3 oz.)
1 med. onion, grated
Salt, to taste
2 tbsp. mayonnaise
3 slices bacon
¼ c. crushed potato chips
½ tsp. lemon juice
Ripe olives and pimiento

Scoop flesh from ripe avocado. Mash with cheese. Season with salt, onion and enough mayonnaise to make soft paste. Stir in potato chips and crisp cooked crumbled bacon. Serve on toasted bread triangles. Garnish with strips of pimiento and slvers of ripe olive.

CELERY FINGERS

¼ lb. American cheese
1¼ oz. pkg. Roquefort
3 oz. cream cheese
3 tbsp. cream
1 tsp. sugar
¼ c. crumbled potato chips
Paprika for top.

IDEAL PLATTER CENTER

An ideal center for an attractive well-planned finger food platter is an arrangement of various cheeses. First use a cookie cutter to cut down about ¼-inch into the center top of a small Edam or Gouda with its appealing red paraffin coating. Remove the top layer carefully and use a small ball cutter to scoop out cheese balls from the interior without disturbing the top design. After removing a dozen or more balls take out excess crumbs and drop the balls carefully back into the cheese shell.

Surrounding this center piece place other cheeses such as Swiss, aged Cheddar or a brick variety which can be sliced to produce round, rectangular, square and triangular shapes. These can be overlapped neatly in straight or curved rows, depending on the shape of the tray and the design you wish to create.

Radiating from this center, a great many tasty finger foods such as chicken fried in a crushed potato chip coating, sliced raw fruit laid in rows, carrot sticks, radishes, hamburgers, frankfurters and closed and open sandwiches can be arranged in appealing patterns.

Nectarines Topping for Short Ribs

Nectarines are one of the uniquely flavorsome fresh fruits that make their apperances only during the summer months. Not only are they superior in taste eaten just as-is — their fuzzless skins don't need to be peeled — but they are also excellent in many desserts, salads and entrees. "Fruited Short Ribs" is a glowing example. The ribs are seasoned with apple juice, onion, bay leaves and other perky ingredients, cooked until tender, then simmered a short time with a topping of fresh nectarine slices. A sour cream gravy accompanies the meat to perfection.

Fruited Short Ribs

4 to 4½ lbs. beef short ribs
1 tablespoon salad oil
2 cups apple juice or water
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon coarsely ground pepper
½ teaspoon whole allspice
2 bay leaves
3 or 4 fresh nectarines
1 tablespoon flour
¼ cup water
1 cup dairy sour cream

Have butcher cut short ribs into serving-size pieces. In a Dutch oven over medium-high heat, quickly brown short ribs on all sides in oil. Stir together apple juice, onion, salt, pepper, allspice and bay leaves; pour over meat. Cover and cook over low heat about 2 hours, until meat is tender. Slice nectarines to make 2 cups; arrange over meat, cover and simmer 15 minutes longer. Remove meat and fruit to serving plate and keep warm. Combine flour and water; stir into pan liquid. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Blend in sour cream. Strain into bowl and serve as gravy. Makes 4 servings.

New Idea in Sandwiches Inspires Today's Cooks

Sandwiches are undoubtedly the most popular lunch dish in America. Yet from the literally thousands of varieties of sandwiches, how many of us are guilty of never venturing beyond a limited few favorites.

To inspire those who are both tired of making the same old sandwiches, and tired of eating them, too, here are several suggestions from the Best Foods kitchens.

Broiled Tuna-Cheese Sandwiches

1 cup (1 7-ounce) can tuna fish
½ cup grated cheese
¼ teaspoon grated onion
¼ teaspoon salt
6 slices bread
1 egg white
¾ cup real mayonnaise

Flake tuna fish with a fork and mix with cheese, onion and salt. Spread slices of bread with tuna fish mixture. Beat egg white until stiff and fold in real mayonnaise. Pile lightly on sandwiches and broil three inches from heat until brown. Makes 6 servings.

Carrot-Egg Sandwiches

4 hard cooked eggs, finely chopped
½ cup finely chopped carrot
¼ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
¼ cup real mayonnaise
12 slices bread

Combine eggs, carrot, curry powder, salt and pepper. Add real mayonnaise and toss until well mixed. Spread on 6 slices of the bread; top with remaining slices. Makes 6 sandwiches.

Broiled Peanut Butter-Cheese Sandwiches

1½ cups grated American cheese
½ cup real mayonnaise
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon salt
8 slices white bread
2 medium tomatoes, sliced thin

Combine peanut butter, cheese, real mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and salt. Toast one side of bread under broiler. Spread untoasted side of bread with peanut butter-cheese mixture. Arrange tomato slices on top. Broil sandwiches until tomato is hot and cheese is melted. Serve immediately. Makes 8 sandwiches.

Grilled Tuna Rolls

2 cups (two 7-ounce cans) tuna
¼ cup chopped walnuts or almonds
½ teaspoon grated onion
¼ cup dry bread crumbs
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 teaspoon lemon juice
½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup milk
Salt and pepper

Drain and flake tuna; mix filling ingredients together. Split rolls lengthwise. Spread each half with about ¼ cup tuna mixture. Broil until lightly browned. Makes 6 servings, 1 roll each.

Boys Will Like 'Bunyan'

The hearty appetities of growing boys are a perfect match for a Paul Bunyan sandwich. Split a French roll lengthwise, butter the halves and spread with mustard. For the filling, alternate slices of chopped ham and cotto salami with Swiss cheese and lettuce leaves.

Most baked casseroles may be made ahead and refrigerated. If so, let warm to room temperature before cooking, or start in a cold oven. Oven-proof glass and metal dishes may be put directly into hot oven; allow 15 to 30 extra minutes to bake, depending on size.

A NEW SANDWICH to give a new lift to sandwich meals. It's a tuna-cheese sandwich with a puffy mayonnaise and egg white topping.

Summer Party Serving Tips

WHAT TO serve at that early summer party — whether it's in honor of a group of high-school graduates or it's a shower for a bride?

Our nomination is a delightfully refreshing fruit-juice and milk float with sherbet. Pastel colors make the following recipe so attractive. Pineapple and orange juice yield a pale "sea" on which the green of lime sherbet floats enticingly.

With the pnch you might like to go tradtional and serve what used to be called "tea-size" sandwiches.

Petits fours — the French name for fancy small cakes—will make a sweet party ending. You can make your own petits fours by baking white or yellow cake (from scratch or a mix) in a jelly-roll pan. Then the cake may be cut into squares or diamonds, or other fancy shapes, and be frosted and garnished.

Tiny puffs, with savory or sweet fillings, are another offering that is always popular. These may be concocted from regular cream-puff paste. To make the puffs miniature size, use rounded teaspoons of the batter, and drop them at least an inch apart on greased baking sheets. Bake the small puffs in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 25 to 30 minutes or until they are golden brown and set. A standard four-egg recipe should make about five dozen puffs.

LIME SHERBET FLOAT

1 can (6-ounces) frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
1 can (6-ounces) frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
3 cups icy-cold water
3 cups milk
Dash of salt
¼ cup sugar
1 quart lime sherbet

Mix together the pineapple and orange juice concentrate, water, milk, salt and sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Chll. At serving time pour fruit mixture into a punch bowl; spoon in sherbet and stir slightly, so a little the sherbet melts. Nice served in all glass or glass mugs with sipper-spoons. Makes about 10 ne-cup servings.

Wonderful Cheese Cake Has a Lot to Offer

EVEN IN warm weather, a great big wonderful cheese cake has a lot to offer.

Served with a topping of summer's fresh fruit — sliced strawberries or peaches, raspberries or blueberries — it's devastatingly good.

Such a cake may be baked on a cool day and stored in the refrigerator for later use. The following recipe for a rich cheese cake makes a lot of servings: its 10-inch size cuts into 16 portions.

This recipe won second prize in a contest that had about 200 entries from about 30 states. It produces a cake with pure flavor and satin-smooth texture because its ingredients are simple and their proportons just right.

When tested in my kitchen, the crispy corn-flake base of the cake tasted best to me the first day it was made. (We baked the cake early in the morning, refrigerated it, and tasted it late in the afternoon). But my other tasters enjoyed the base as much on the cake's fourth day as on its first. So here, as in so many culinary matters, opinions differ.

MRS. DOREEN BRISTOL'S CHEESE CAKE

- 1½ cups packaged corn flake crumbs.
- 1½ cups sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- ⅓ cup butter or margarine, soft
- 4 eggs
- 2 pounds cream cheese, soft
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 cups cultured sour cream

Mix well the corn flake crumbs, ¼ of the sugar, cinnamon and butter; press into bottom of a 10-inch spring-form pan, reserving ½ cup for topping. Beat eggs and 1 cup of the sugar until thick and lemon-colored. Without washing beater, beat cheese until fluffy and smooth. Add beaten eggs to cheese with lemon juice and salt; beat well. Pour into crumb-lined pan. Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Remove from oven. Fold remaining ¼ cup sugar and vanilla into sour cream; spread over cake. Sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Return to very hot (475 degrees) oven; bake for 10 minutes. Cool, then refrigerate 2 to 3 hours. Before serving, remove from refrigerator and allow to stand at room temperature about one hour. Makes 16 servings.

Note: If you use regular corn flakes, allow 6 cups before crushing.

PRIZE-WINNING CHEESE cake cuts into 16 portions and is a winner all the way, especially when topped with fresh fruit — sliced strawberries or peaches, raspberries or blueberries.

Gravy Beans Add 'Touch'

Gray beans add a touch to a rangetop supper.

Skillet Beef Patties Potatoes
Gravy Beans Salad Bowl
Fruit and Cookies Beverage

GRAVY BEANS

- 1 pound snap begans
- 1 envelope (¾ ounces) mushroom gravy mix
- 1 cup milk
- 1 or 2 teaspoons instant onion
- 1 can (3 ounces) chopped mushrooms (if desired)

Cook the beans whole in boiling salted water; drain and cut into ½-inch crosswise pieces. Make up gravy mix according to envelope directions using the 1 cup milk instead of the 1 cup cold water called for and the onion. Add beans and mushrooms (if used) and reheat. Makes 6 servings.

Try Avocado Cheese Dip

Everyone likes cooling things to eat during the warm months and "Summer Snack Tray" is certainly that! Mashed California avocado, cottage cheese, chopped pickled onions and seasoned salt are blended into a tasty dip for crisp raw vegetables. Late spring is the time of year to start looking in markets for summer avocados from California. They range in shape from round and plump to pear-shaped. Their skins may be thick or thin, rough or smooth, green or almost black. However, all of them have the same familiar eating goodness as their winter cousins.

SUMMER SNACK TRAY

- 1 California avocado
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 cup cottage cheese
- ¼ cup pickled onions
- Crisp raw vegetables

Cut avocado lengthwise into halves; remove seed and skin. Mash or force fruit through sieve. Blend in seasoned salt and cheese. Drain and chop onions coarsely. Stir into avocado mixture. Serve in bowl surrounded by cauliflowerettes, carrot sticks, cucumber slices and radishes. Makes 1½ to 2 cups dip.

When making angel food cake, always add salt to the egg whites before beating.

Teen-Age Cooking

by Lillian Jermane

Mother has nothing on Father. He has his day too. FATHER'S DAY is Sunday, June 16. Would you like to be Dad's Darling Daughter and fix him a Father's Day dinner all yourself and thereby make a hit with Mom, too?

You are bound to be the one to get the most out of the whole thing because it is always such fun and so soul rewarding to give of yourself at such times. It costs only your efforts. For aren't mom and dad always the ones who pay the bills?

We have two menus you can choose from. One is a chicken dinner and the other is a steak dinner. Either one will be perfect. As far as expense is concerned the chicken dinner might be less expensive if you get the chicken on sale. However, we think on such an occasion you should buy only breasts, thighs, and drumsticks, as there is such waste on the other parts of the chicken for what you pay for it and what meat you get from it. If you like to gnaw on bones you can still do so with the thighs, drumsticks and breasts. And have more meat to eat too. If you do this the cost will be the same for steak as for chicken. Just decide which of the two you would like to make. Dad will be pleased with either

Put a Father's Day card in the center of the table. Set your table as for company. Plan the hour you want to serve it and give yourself plenty of time to prepare everything leisurely. Make your pie or cake on Saturday. Purchase all groceries on Friday or Saturday. Set your table first thing and that will be done. We give you the recipes for the main items of your dinner.

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY DINNER!

DAD'S DAY CHICKEN DINNER

Tomato juice Cocktail
Fried chicken mashed potatoes
Country gravy
fresh peas favorite salad
baking powder biscuits
pecan pie Tea, coffee or milk

SOUTHERN FRIED CHICKEN

1 frying chicken (2 lbs) or 1 pckg. each of thighs, breasts and drumsticks
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ cup margarine

Gravy

2 T. flour
1 cup milk (or potato water drained from mashed potatoes)
½ tsp. salt

Wash and clean chicken.

In a flat pan or on wax paper, mix flour, (1½ cups) salt and pepper together and roll each piece of chicken in it. Place margarine in heavy frying pan and melt. Brown chicken well in hot fat. When all pieces are well browned, cover and continue to cook over low heat until chicken is tender. Add a little water if desired about ¼ cup. Remove chicken from pan when done and keep covered or keep in hot oven. You will have the oven on, because of the hot biscuits you made while the chicken was frying. Add 2 tablespoons flour to drippings and blend well. Add milk or potato water and cook until gravy is thick, stirring constantly to prevent any lumps from appearing. Season to taste, add salt.

MASHED POTATOES

salt

Pare potatoes, cut in half. Place in kettle, cover with water and add salt. Cover with a lid and cook for about 20 minutes, until a fork goes through them easily when pierced. Mash potatoes with potato masher, or mixer. Add milk and a chunk of butter and beat until fluffy and smooth.

BAKING POWDER BISCUITS

(You may use biscuit mix, or make your own)

Mix as below

2 cups flour
1 tsp. salt
4 T. shortening
¾ cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder and salt into a bowl, add shortening and mix with fingers. Add milk, stirring with spoon. Turn out on floured breadboard. Pat down lightly with hand cut and place on greased tin. Bake 15 minutes in 450 degree oven. Small biscuits rolled ½ inch thick are best.

PECAN PIE

3 eggs
2-3 cup sugar
1 cup dark Karo
1 pinch salt
2-3 cup nuts (Pecans, but walnuts will do)
1 tsp. vanilla

Beat eggs in a bowl until light and fluffy. Add syrup, sugar, salt and beat until thoroughly mixed. Add vanilla and pecans and mix together. Pour into 9 inch unbaked pie shell and bake 400 degrees for 10 minutes, then turn down to 325 degrees and bake 35 to 40 minutes.

FLAKEY PIE CRUST

3½ cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 cup shortening
4-6 T. cold water

Single crust recipe

½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. baking powder
½ cup shortening
2-3 T. cold water

Use single crust recipe for one crust pie. Sift flour, salt and baking powder into bowl and add shortening. Mix with fingers. Add water and mix until mixture holds together in a ball. Flour bread borad, put on board, sprinkle top of pastry with flour and roll out to fit pie pan. Always roll pie crust outward from center.

DAD'S DAY FRENCH DINNER

Menu

Sirloin steak French fried
French fried onions
French cut string beans
Lettuce and Tomato salad with French Dressing
Ice Cream Favorite drink
Butter Mints

I.

Check the list of things and see that you have all of them:

1 can French cut string beans or frozen package
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 package French rolls
4 medium onions
butter
2 packages frozen French fried potatoes
Ice cream (favorite)
Milk, sugar
lettuce and tomatoes
French dressing (You make this)

If you PAN BOIL your steak just place steak in hot Ungreased pan and cook until brown on both sides, turning only once, seasoning the side that is up. If you Broil the same way is done under a broiler. If you Bar-B-Q let Dad do the honors.

3.

FRENCH FRIED ONIONS

Peel and slice onions ¼ inch thick (separate into rings). Dip into ½ cup milk, then in flour. Heat 1 pan with ½ to ¾ st. salad oil and fry until golden brown around two minutes, drain on scott towel. Keep in warm place until all onions are cooked. Serve with steak.

Try to arrange it so onions and steak will be done at the same time. Open and place French fried potatoes in pan and place in oven, while steak and onions are cooking. Onions can be kept warm in oven with potatoes. Turn off oven and put in rolls to warm in package or bag they came in.

5.

Prepare salad, having made the French dressing the day before and keep it in the refrigerator. Open or cook string beans and add the cream of mushroom soup when they are heated through or thoroughly cooked. Do not drain beans then no liquid is needed to be added to the soup.

6.

Make the family's favorite beverage and you're ready to eat.

FRENCH DRESSING

1 cup tomato soup
¼ cup sugar
¾ cup vinegar
½ cup oil
1 tsp. salt, mustard paprika chopped garlic and onion
2 T. Worcestershire sauce

Put all ingredients into a bowl and mix thoroughly. Place in a jar and keep in refrigerator. Stir or shake well before using.

Vegetables, Ripe Olives Give Flavor

Did you ever think of combining vegetables and ripe olives? You are due for a surprise, for the shining black ripe olives are perfect flavor companions to corn and tomatoes. Discover for yourself when you try:

CORN CASSEROLE

2 c. corn (fresh or canned)
¼ c. chopped green pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
8 slices tomato ½ inch thick
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
2 tbsp. chopped onion
2 tbsp. flour
½ tsp. salt
Pepper to taste
¾ cup milk
½ c. shredded cheese
1 c. Black Ripe Olives

Combine corn, green pepper and thyme. Alternate layers of corn mix with tomato slices in greased casserole. Reserve 3 tomato slices for the top. Saute onion lightly in butter, stir in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until thick and smooth. Remove from heat, add cheese and stir until melted. Fold in olives (cut from pits) and pour over vegetables in casserole. Top with remaining tomato slices and bake in 350 degrees oven 30 minutes. Whole ripe olives may be used as garnish.

Because casseroles are brought to the table in the dishes they have been cooked in, choose a casserole that compliments the food and your table setting.

FRENCH MASTERPIECE — Expected to lure visitors to Palace of the Legion of Honor, San Francisco, from now until July 7 is this painting of Napoleon by David. It is one of nearly 200 paintings, sculptures, tapestries and furnishings dispatched from Versailles for exhibit.

Painting of Napoleon Keys Brilliant French Art Exhibit

SAN FRANCISCO—A magnificent painting of Napoleon by David is one of nearly 200 paintings, sculptures, tapestries and splendid furnishings in the brilliant exhibition of the Treasures of Versailles at the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, Lincoln park, San Francisco, May 24 through July 7.

The magnificence of the French Court at Versailles, for two centuries the envy of all Europe, is evoked in these sumptuous works that are a panorama of the glories of French history and art from Louis XIV to the time of Marie Antoinette, Napoleon, and the Romantic era.

The great artists that created them include Houdon, David, Boucher, Nattier, Rigaud, and Le Brun.

Never before has the French government allowed such a large and varied selection of its treasures to leave Versailles, France's most famous royal palace.

The San Francisco exhibition is the final showing on the tour, and it will be the last time Americans will have to view these treasures before they are returned to France.

BIG CONTRACT ARRIVES — Jim Zaky, President f the Widows and Orphans fund the of San Mateo County Sheriff's Office association, is about to affix his signature to the Bob Hope contract as Al King, theatrical booking agent; Vice President of the association, Paul Hart; and Sheriff Earl B. Restaurant Service at Hyatt House as Usual

There was a "hot time at the Hyatt House Hotel in Burlingame, last weekend, when a fire did damage well in the five figure bracket. However, Manager Ed Sullivan reports that business is now going on, as usual, in the Scheherazade Dining Room starting at 6 a.m.; dinner-dancing during the evening to Bob Wellman's splendid orchestra Tuesday through Sundays. The Coffee Shop, which is usually open 24 hours a day, and Johnny Kan's excellent Cantonese restaurant suffered the bulk of the damage. With a clean up crew working around the clock, the re-opening date of these two restaurant divisions should be this weekend. No damage to the spacious room accommodations — reservations are being taken. The beautiful Hyatt House, situated only a few minutes from the heart of San Mateo and San Francisco, is an ideal setting for a weekend of relaxation and fun.

Happy Birthday Enricketta Romano

Enjoyed being with the Romano family, last Tuesday, when Enrico, in celebration of his mother's (Enricketta) birthday, hosted her to a night on the town. First stop was dinner at Forbidden City, thence to the Sinaloa, and a finale at New Fack's for the Buddy Greco show. At the conclusion of this fun-packed evening Mrs. Romano's final words to son Enrico were: "Don't they have any after-hour shows we can catch?" At this point I did a disc jockey sign-off and "went off into the night."

Bruno Scatena, owner of Joe's of Westlake, had a most amusing experience on a recent business flight to Los Angeles The plane seemed to encounter turbulence—and his companion in the next seat, a LOL obviously on her first flight, remarked to him: "Let's get out of here."

Bob Hope Show Set For Cow Palace June 15th

The bow of the week to Officers Jim Zaky and Paul Hart, president and vice president, respectively, of the San Mateo County Sheriff's Office Association for the Widows' and Orphans' Fund.

Al King

These two imaginative gents have what it takes to show folks that San Mateo county is in the big league entertainment.

Zaky and Hart approached Al King, entertainment counselor at the Villa Square, with the idea that they wanted something different for their show this year. Something that would give the public, both young and old, a dollar value and a good time. King, who offered a few suggestions which were discussed and dismissed, mentioned Bob Hope's name. Messers Zaky and Hart were interested and gave Al the "green light" to set it up.

Now it's up to all of us who enjoy entertainment in the top bracket to follow through and help make the San Mateo County Sheriff's Widows' and Orphans' Annual Fund Raising Campaign program the biggest ever.

The show, featuring Bob Hope in person, along with an All Star Revue, will be at the San Francisco Cow Palace on Saturday, June 15, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at various agencies, with the San Mateo headquarters at the Book Store, 132 Third avenue. Prices start from $2 to $3.50. For a look-see-and-listen to the great Bob Hope, make it a date at the Cow Palace next Saturday night.

Reggie Dahl, ballet dancer at Finocchio's, gets a surprising amount of fan letters—and he answers them all, concluding each letter with "Dancingly Yours." Dahl's impersonation of ballerina is considered one of the artistic highlights of Finocchio's current musical revue. He was formerly featured by the Chicago Ballet company, and is being held over for the new summer show.

Diplomas to Be Given in Laguna

A record number of 520 eighth grade students will receive diplomas tomorrow in the six Laguna Salada elementary schools. This is an increase of 67 over last year's total.

Students will go on to Oceana and Terra Nova High school.

Assemblyman Leo Ryan will be guest speaker at Sanchez school and Laguna Salada school board chairman Ruth Boudinot will present diplomas.

At Sharp Park school, Pacifica Councilwoman Jean Fassler will be the guest speaker. School trustee Rod Dailey will present diplomas.

Linda Mar school will have three student speakers. Diplomas will be awarded by schools superintendent Frederick Lucas.

At Vallemar school, Duncan Burdick will present diplomas. Student speakers will be Michael Buskey, Penny Ambrosen and Leslie Haney.

At Pacific Heights school, guest speaker will be Maurice Hamilton, San Bruno councilman and former mayor. Trustee William Kesinger will award diplomas.

Howard Hoops, Pacifica Red Cross director, will speak at Ortega school's first graduation ceremony and Trustee Robert Hale will present diplomas.

Admission to all Laguna Salada promotion exercises is by invitation only. Each school will hold a promotion dance to honor graduates.

Eight tots will graduate from Pacifica Cooperative Nursery school at a party Friday. Each youngster will receive a diploma with a group picture of his fellow graduates.

Director Ella Rechnitzer will give a talk on what the youngster can expect to find in kindergarten.

S.M. College Bill Passed

The senate passed and sent to the assembly Thursday a bill requiring the co-prdinating council for higher education to speed up its survey of the state's college needs.

The measure, by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, R-Redwood City, directs the council to issue a report next year rather than in 1965.

Dolwig said the state college board of trustees has recommended five new state colleges in California which he said must start planning now to offset mounting construction costs.

Pacifican Is Injured

Mark D. Parliament, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Max H. Parliament of 659 Manor drive, Pacifica, was injured seriously last Wednesday when he was struck by a car on Cabrillo highway at Manor drive.

Witnesses said the boy, a student at Sharp Park school, stepped off the curb into the path of a car driven by Mrs. Dolores B. Naumann, 28, of San Francisco, and apparently did not notice the car.

Mrs. Naumann put on the brakes and the car was skidding when it hit the boy.

The young victim was admitted to Peninsula hospital for treatment of a concussion and multiple contusions.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Bailey, a Peninsula hospital nurse, and a San Pedro couple were injured Thursday in a crash on Skyline boulevard at Half Moon Bay road. Patrolmen said Mrs. Bailey, 48, of 316 Hazel avenue, San Bruno, crashed her car into the rear of a sedan driven by John J. Masse, 48.

Masse and his wife, Jean, 46, were treated at Peninsula for minor injuries. Mrs. Bailey did not require hospital treatment.
